

THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR. NO. 25.

HE HAS LANDED

Our Old Friend John Wilkinson Arrives at His Florida Home and is Happy and Contented.

Carlton, Fla., Oct. 21, 1913. Hello Mitchell— I arrived safe, found everything safe but it has been very dry here no rain since the first of August until Sunday last and it rained all day. Got a nice crop of oranges and some fine sweet potatoes also a tree full of tomatoes. Had rabbit and quail Sunday and there are plenty of them here. Say Mitchell they have a new breed of razor back hogs here their nose is so long and thin they can drink water out of it.

With regards to all in old Birmingham, will close, from Uncle JOHN.

MARK THIS ITEM!

And Mail It to Your City Friends and It May do a Work of Wonder.

Try It. Just wait a moment and let these faces soak into your mentality. Consider that prices on Birmingham retail estate are lower than on other localities where some of the advantages which we offer are obtainable; that there are no factories or manufacturing institutions in Birmingham with the undesirable residents invariably incident thereto; that Birmingham is a strictly residential village of the better class of home-owners, with as possible continuity whereby the value of real estate can be maintained; no strikes, no riots, no suggested tenements swarming with the pestiferous elements of foreign countries; that you can have every convenience which you could have in the city, with pure air, pure water and all the untold blessings of this great big out-of-door life beckoning to you at the end of the street. That is a statement of facts nobody can dispute. Think it over and then investigate.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Hallock, on Ann Street, when their eldest daughter, Maude Olive Isabelle, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Horace Hunt, both of Birmingham, on Wednesday night, Oct. 22nd, by Rev. W. H. Jamieson.

Promptly at 12 o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the wedding party took their place in front of an arch of green and white. Prof. H. P. Satter presided at the piano.

The bride was beautifully attired in cream tulle, trimmed with brocade and satin and silver, the bridal veil being caught by a silver ornament, and carried white satin. The bridegroom wore a Miss Dand, sister of the bride, wearing a pretty gown of white voile and carrying pink carnations. Mr. Alfred Hirth of Detroit acted as the best man.

The wedding dinner was served in the dining-room which was artistically decorated in pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt left for a short wedding trip to Cleveland, O. after which they will be at home to their friends, Nov. 10th, next, 255 Brown Street.

Garrick Theatre.

"Little Miss Brown."

The appearance of "Little Miss Brown" at the Garrick Theatre, Detroit, Michigan, all next week, beginning Monday evening, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday, will give theatre-goers of our city their first view of another Bartholomae comedy. Mr. Philip H. Bartholomae, the author, sprang into prominence with the production of "Over Night," which ran in New York practically one year. "Little Miss Brown" is the second play from his pen and during its 4 month's run in New York last summer and fall at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre, Theatre, gave evidence of every most prosperous and permanent life than its predecessor. The company intact will be seen here.

The play tells the amusing story of a young girl who, arriving in a strange city at night and in this section of the station, and finding all hotels booked, an unsorted without cash or baggage, registers in desperation as a married woman who is expecting her husband. A Mr. Dammann had already reserved an apartment and left a card that his wife would join him later. Little Miss Brown is mistaken for the wife, and, not appreciating the complication into which she is walking takes no pains to rectify the blunder. The real wife arrives, as does the husband, uncle, aunt and brother. The fun is fast furious while it is being unraveled, and through it all runs a delightful romance.

Women's Valuable Thoughts.

Among the first American patents taken out by women were those for a fountain pen, a baby jumper, and the first gink stove. Mrs. Ada Van Pelt of late years invented a permanent lock with three thousand combinations. A woman is engaged in process of making harnesses which saved the country $25,000,000 in four-hundred years. Another woman was offered $20,000 for her paper bag process.
