Wedding Bells Ring Out Joyously at the Home of the Bride. Monday Evening, Nov. 10.

To Be Given by Birmingham Temple. No. 94, Pythian Sisters at Castle Hall November 22.

The "Fortune Hunter". The attraction at the Washington Theatre, the home of Detroit's only class stock company, for the week of Nov. 17, will be Winchell Smith's delightful comedy of city and country life called "The Fortune Hunter".

One of the most modern, recent and wonderful enterprises in Birmingham that ever took place is the Licensed Wireless Station of Mr. Arthur Payne... Birmingham has a licensed wireless telegraph station. Arthur F. Payne is operator.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. W. L. St. John... The bride was Miss Florence Drabbin of Royal Oak, performed the ceremony.

The members of Birmingham Temple have been organizing fancy articles for a grand bazaar to be held in Castle Hall over the First State Bank.

Mr. Smith has told a real story, his characters are human, and the love interests are especially absorbing. Nat Duncan, the fortune hunter, is a college graduate but a business failure.

Each week hereafter Operator Payne will try and furnish for our readers information gleaned by the Birmingham Wireless Station whose recognized call throughout the United States is 8 cy e.

The bride was handsomely veiled in a silk broadcloth trimmed with pearls. The bridesmaid was prettily dressed in pink silk.

There will also be a home-made candy booth and a good grab bag. One of the extra features of the evening will be "A Gipsy Fortune Teller" who will tell your past, present and future for 10c.

Mr. Smith has told a real story, his characters are human, and the love interests are especially absorbing. Nat Duncan, the fortune hunter, is a college graduate but a business failure.

This is an independent enterprise all Mr. Payne owns. He is in no way connected with any Company or Corporation. It is his, privately owned, and licensed by the Government of the United States.

After the ceremony Miss Jameson played, Lorensen sang while congregational songs were sung. Refreshments were served to about 80 guests.
