"Are You In Debt?"

was one of the significant ques-tions put to each of the candidates for the ministry by Bishop Con ference.

Did you ever think seriously of this matter of being in debt?
"Debt," as Hubbard says, 'is a rope to your feet, cockleburrs in your hair, and a clothes pin on your tongue," A CREDIT ACCOUNT is the most insidious form of borrowing money, and the 'easy nayment' hap is the torm of borrowing money, and the "easy payment" plan is the siren song which leads us on to buying things we do not need. The man who values his self respect will not "run in debt," but will make provision for his needs from his surplus earnings. His savings in his pockets are a continual invitation to extravagance, to the purchase and doing of things not needful. Why not begin with this week's pay and lay some part of it aside for future needs? Why not have the satisfaction of opening an account
