FELLOW CITIZENS 33 YEARS AGO

Let us Forget the Past and Live in the Present. Some Sage Suggestions Be Sure and Kead

We are circumscribed by tradition, the people, the church, the lodge, have all built up their walls of tradition that light vision to one long narrow large, while on either side lay beautiful fields and neglected pastures. We are entering upon a new crash homanitarism that will raze these walls, and expose to view, not herds with cloven feet, but beings, of our own kind, some atrong and upright, others we like and lleaning, others walting for a belging hand. The community is we better than the least within their midst.
