

Dr. Marden's Uplift Talks

By ORISON SWETT MARDEN.
Copyright by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
DO NOT DISCHARGE THE BOY.

Edwin Booth once scolded one of his superiors for the careless way in which he took his part. "Look at me," said Mr. Booth, "why do you do as I do?" "Ah, Mr. Booth," said the man, "I was not I would not be carrying a spear for one other a night."

Don't scold the employee who doesn't always do things as you would do them. Remember, he has not your experience, judgment or present ability. If he had he would not be working for you.

Don't fire the boy who has disappointed you. Think how you would like to have some one treat your boy who happened to make a mistake or to do some foolish thing. Do not throw him out. Take all interest in him. Try to arouse his ambition.

Remember that you can persuade a boy, you can lead him to do anything, but it is very difficult to drive him, if there is anything in him.

Perhaps the boy you want to discharge has not had the right care, the tender influences in his home, which you have in his. In fact, he may have no real home at all, as you have it. He may even have a vicious influence upon him.

Remember that you can persuade a boy, you can lead him to do anything, but it is very difficult to drive him, if there is anything in him.

Perhaps the boy you want to discharge has not had the right care, the tender influences in his home, which you have in his. In fact, he may have no real home at all, as you have it. He may even have a vicious influence upon him.

Remember that you can persuade a boy, you can lead him to do anything, but it is very difficult to drive him, if there is anything in him.

Perhaps the boy you want to discharge has not had the right care, the tender influences in his home, which you have in his. In fact, he may have no real home at all, as you have it. He may even have a vicious influence upon him.

Remember that you can persuade a boy, you can lead him to do anything, but it is very difficult to drive him, if there is anything in him.

which your imagination puts in it will be gone when you reach it. That the mirage which you witness today comes from the distance, but that when you arrive it will be gone, and you will find only a common, ordinary day—practically a duplicate of this common, ordinary day, through which you are now passing?

The trouble with many of us is that we are waiting for the ideal condition before we enjoy ourselves. Somehow we cannot seem to manage to extract satisfaction and enjoyment out of the day that is so full of care, anxiety and the humdrum routine of life. We are dreaming of that Utopia somewhere in the future that will have all the good things, the comfort, the convenience, the pleasures without the annoying things, the thousand pin pricks and the little annoyances, the fretting and the worrying and the anxiety of today.

But there is no such Paradise awaiting us. We are really now in the Paradise which we picture in our dreams a few years ago. We all are in it. This is the future we look forward to when we were in school or college, we picture it at home to start out in the world for ourselves, and is it materially different from yesterday? It is not the same humdrum sort of life, with the same anxieties, the same worries, the same care that we had then, and probably many more! Life is made up of days, each day must be a success or the whole is marred.

The habit, therefore, of resolving when we start out each morning that the day shall find us of a sort to make the observer of "class" in military turn to look twice at it. Hats are as numerous as roses and the pretty ones inspire an admiration as frank and untrusting as that given to the flowers. Here are three totally dissimilar, each vying with the others, as an example of excellence in the millinery art, and all far above the average in point of distinction in style.

The largest of the three has a rather small crown with soft top, garnished with a ribbon band, which terminates in a small flat bow at the side. The brim is wonderfully graceful, curving upward slightly and widening at the left side. It is a shape better suited to mature women than to the youthful wearer on whom it is pictured.

The two-toned, long, upstanding plume of ostrich at the front is calculated to make one wonder at the dexterity of the dyers and the delicacy of the trimmer who has used it so effectively.

A small and what we call a "French" shape, is a picturesque and dainty model, combining a narrow brim of velvet and a crown of silken lace over a vivid satin. The brim rolls up at the left and drops decidedly at the right side, where an indentation breaks its line and adds to its becomingness. It is trimmed with a single metallic rose and finished with a long tulle of handsome mill ribbon. This is mounted to the brim at the left under an odd and pretty bow.

The curious shape of the third model catches one's attention. It is a beautifully made hat with crown that has a sharp slope upward from left to left. The velvet covering is laid on smoothly and piped with satin, and satin is used for the facing.

The shape serves as a background upon which a splendid bow of rich mill ribbon is mounted. The ribbon is wired at the edges and the bow reveals how much of an art it is to convert a straight length of material into a trimming of such expression.

Hats With Much Distinction

ANY one of the three examples of the hats which are shown here is of a sort to make the observer of "class" in military turn to look twice at it. Hats are as numerous as roses and the pretty ones inspire an admiration as frank and untrusting as that given to the flowers. Here are three totally dissimilar, each vying with the others, as an example of excellence in the millinery art, and all far above the average in point of distinction in style.

The largest of the three has a rather small crown with soft top, garnished with a ribbon band, which terminates in a small flat bow at the side. The brim is wonderfully graceful, curving upward slightly and widening at the left side. It is a shape better suited to mature women than to the youthful wearer on whom it is pictured.

The two-toned, long, upstanding plume of ostrich at the front is calculated to make one wonder at the dexterity of the dyers and the delicacy of the trimmer who has used it so effectively.

A small and what we call a "French" shape, is a picturesque and dainty model, combining a narrow brim of velvet and a crown of silken lace over a vivid satin. The brim rolls up at the left and drops decidedly at the right side, where an indentation breaks its line and adds to its becomingness.

The curious shape of the third model catches one's attention. It is a beautifully made hat with crown that has a sharp slope upward from left to left. The velvet covering is laid on smoothly and piped with satin, and satin is used for the facing.

The shape serves as a background upon which a splendid bow of rich mill ribbon is mounted. The ribbon is wired at the edges and the bow reveals how much of an art it is to convert a straight length of material into a trimming of such expression.

EARLY RETURNS INDICATE FERRIS IS RE-ELECTED

Democrats Win First Place On Ticket But Lose Balance

REPUBLICANS WILL HAVE ELEVEN CONGRESSMEN

Partial Returns Compiled Early Wednesday Morning Indicate That Governor Gets Twenty-five Per Cent of Republican Vote.

Detroit—Early Wednesday morning when about half of the predicted had been heard from the state democratic headquarters claimed the re-election of Governor Ferris by thirty-five thousand majority. Up to that time the returns indicated that Governor Class S. Osborn had been scratched by about twenty-five per cent of the republican vote. The balance of the republican state ticket seemed to be safely elected. The vote for Patten, progressive candidate for governor, was so small as to be very disappointing to the members of that party.

The counties in which Ferris received his largest pluralities, outside of Wayne, were Calhoun, Genesee, Houghton, Ingham, Jackson, Lenoir, Mack, Montcalm, Orleans, and Washtenaw. Most of these counties went democratic two years ago. Osborn carried his own county of Chippewa by nearly 1,000, and carried within a couple of hundred of carrying Ferris county, Mecosta.

Of the 15 counties in the upper peninsula, Ferris has carried Leake, Mackinac, Mackinaw, Ontonagon, and Osborn Marquette, Iron, Gogebic, Dickinson, Delta, Chippewa and Baraga.

Woodruff in the tenth and McDonald in the twelfth, are defeated by George A. Lord and W. Frank James respectively.

Bay City—Bay City complete gives Patten 1,194; Osborn, 216; Ferris 2,131.

Saginaw—Thirty-one precincts out of 47 in Saginaw county give Osborn, 2,187; Ferris, 4,494. Eighteen precincts, Patten 322; Osborn, 29 precincts, 2,191; Beach, 2,363.

Big Rapids—Mecosta county, 18 precincts, give Osborn, 1,111; Ferris, 1,107; Patten, 322; Osborn, 2,191; Beach, 438; Vaughn, 787; Congress, 1,047; Hitchcock, 380; Woodruff, 147.

Memoirs of Napoleon

In Three Volumes

The personal reminiscences of Baron de Ménéval, for thirteen years private secretary to Napoleon Bonaparte, being, as no history can, many enlightening and interesting side lights on the character of that greatest of leaders. De Ménéval's descriptions have the piquancy and interest possible only because he was an actual eyewitness of the scenes and incidents of which he writes. Their reliability and historical interest can be judged by the fact that the very conservative French Academy publicly recommends them.

A SPECIAL OFFER TO OUR READERS
By special arrangement with the publishers of Collier's, The National Weekly, we are able to give these valuable and interesting Memoirs free with a year's subscription to Collier's and this publication, at a price less than the lowest net cash subscription price of the two papers. Only a limited quantity of these Memoirs is available, however, to get the benefit of this special offer you must act quickly.

WHAT YOU GET IN COLLIER'S
Collier's is the one big, fearless, independent Weekly of the whole country. Its editorials are quoted by every paper in the United States and it stands always for the best interests of the greatest number of the people. Among its contributors are such writers as George Randolph Chase, author of "The Rich-Quick" Waughoff, Meredith Nicholson, Amelia Rives, H. G. Wells, Hamlin Garland, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Henry Reed Neidham, etc. It numbers among its correspondents such men as Jack London, Arthur Kuhl, James B. Connolly, and Henry Busefield.

It is a magazine for the whole family—Editorials, Comments on Congress, Photographic News of the World, Short and Serial Stories by the greatest writers of the day.

Call or send subscriptions to this office. If you are already a subscriber, your subscription will be extended for a year from its present date of expiration.

Birmingham Eccentric

Two Views of Attractive Negligée

NEARLY all the new negligées are cut with kimono sleeves and set gracefully to the figure by means of odd drapings. A negligée is a necessity and might just as well be cleverly shaped as to hang in unbroken lines. One of the prettiest of those which have been designed for the occasion is pictured here in two views, showing both the back and the front.

The material used for this garment is silk albatross and fine tulle for the purpose. Others similar in weight and general character are wool challis, nun's veiling, Japanese crepe and crepe de chine, light-weight silks and some fancy weaves.

The heavier cotton crepes are extensively used for negligées. Kimonos and bodice jackets. Hand-embroidered patterns in silk or cotton floss are used liberally, on them and stand the tub perfectly. The cotton crepes are to be had in colors and embroidery which is to be washed in done in white or in the same color as the negligée and copied from the handsome imported silk kimono of the same design.

The favorites, those that are "best sellers" are made of cotton crepe decorated with embroidery that is easy to do and rapidly worked. Great numbers of gaily embroidered kimonos and negligées are made of white chiffon, Japan, and these include popularly wide sleeves as well as expensive varieties. Wide sleeves are liked, those shown in the picture are good examples of this feature. Among the more expensive and especially among the imported garments, the long angled sleeves is used to be made of a gray velvet, or down the fronts. A rolling collar rises above the embroidered band.

Early Reports From State.

Port Huron—Thirty precincts in St. Clair, give Osborn, 1,931; Ferris, 2,101; Patten, 322; Osborn, 2,191; Beach, 1,534; Vaughn, 2,130. For congress—Cramton, 2,092; Murray, 1,319; Brown, 756.

Flint—Forty-one precincts give Osborn 1,085; Ferris, 1,054; Patten 64. Fifteen precincts give Dickinson, 1,108; Bacon, 780; McDonald, 1,094. Congress, Scott, 1,255; McDonald, 756; Baker, 109.

Crystal Falls—Thirteen precincts give Osborn 1,419; Ferris, 254; Patten 113. Congress—James, 705; Bacon, 1,027; McDonald, 913.

Escanaba—Seventeen precincts out of 27 in Delta give Osborn, 1,127; Ferris, 781; Patten 182; Dickinson, 928; Bacon, 434; McBride, 175; Congress—Scott, 1,032; McDonald, 443; Baker, 214.

Starck Pianos

You Can Save $150 By Buying Direct From Our Factory

30 DAYS FREE TRIAL IN YOUR OWN HOME

Free 30 Days Trial $5.00 Per Month

Progressive Crime

The Richmond Virginian, in describing a recent battle, says "before this matter is fully cleared up."

Hope is as Strong as Steel

Reverend Mr. Mendenhall says that man's hope is as strong as solid bar.

New Blouses

A new imported chiffon blouse is gray to wear with a gray velvet, lined with blue chiffon.

Half Tulle and Half Velvet

An evening gown of black velvet shows a bodice made half of velvet, the skirt of tulle.

Plain Black Tulle Skirts and Girded

baques are worn together.

Starck Player-Pianos

Starck Player-Pianos are rich in tone and easy to operate.