DIVIDED INTO TWO CLASSES
World May Be Said to Be Made Up of Those That Dream and Those That Sleep.
On a suburban trolley car we met a pleasant-faced butcher who scribbled his success in life to the fact that he sleeps soundly all the time he is a-bed, except sometimes for the first three minutes. Successful men in this world might be divided into two sorts—the dreamers and the sleepers. The success of a nation depends indeed upon the right proportion being maintained between these two classes in the community; if the sleepers achieve too complete a dominance, that nation becomes Boettian in its stolidity and conservatism—prosperous, perhaps, in the things men buy and sell, but without leadership or initiative or beauty. If, on the other hand, your nation runs to dreamers—and even your plodding clerks and butchers dream of nights instead of sleeping all but the first three minutes—then, as the old-fashioned almanacs used to say, look out for storms, revolutions, upheavals in art; and letters, the invention of new forms of depravity, excess in everything except the durable satisfactions of life. It is a curious business, this matter of dreaming. If we dreamers succeed we owe it to "superior imagination." If we ignorantly fail we are visionaries and impractical idealists and wild meaning theorists. The child is a dreamer; as we grow older and approach more closely the beasts of the field or the king in his counting room, counting out his money, the farther we get from childhood and from dreams. And yet it is only the imbecile or the hardened criminal that does not dream at all—and this is not an editorial theory either, but science out of a book—Collier's Weekly.

Omnious.
A New England man tells of a man in Westfield, Mass., who had been married four times and had been so unfortunate as to lose all his wives. Such a matter of course had this man's weddings come to be in Westfield that when, after a year of widowhood, he announced his fifth engagement, one of the neighbors said: "Come pretty natural to you by this time, doesn't it?" "Well," said Richard, after due reflection, "this fifth marriage ain't going to seem so natural. Old Parson Begg's off on a trip to Europe and he's never called for it the knot for me." "I said to Mary that I didn't think it

Bay City.—Mrs. John Raethke, who was shot in the abdomen several times by her husband, died at the Bay City hospital. The daughter, Laura, sixteen, who was shot at the same time, is recovering.

Jackson.—Ferry school superintendents from cities and towns in southern Michigan met in Jackson to attend a meeting of the Southwestern Michigan School Superintendents' round table. The teachers' retirement salary bill was the chief topic of consideration.

Port Huron.—Lieut. Anders Ruel of Port Huron has been decorated with the French medal of honor for bravery on the battlefield. He writes that he has made several trips over the German intrenchments, but so far has met with no mishaps. Ruel at one time piloted an aeroplane owned by Harold P. McCormick of Chicago in a contest there.

Albion.—The Albion college sophomore class team that will debate the question of the government ownership of the telephone and telegraph, is as follows: William H. Canfield, Negative; Glenn F. Griffin, Traverse City; Howard Lamb, Hillsdale; Murray Fox, Coldwater, alternate.

Sault Ste. Marie.—Enclosed in soil ice, a body was found at Deer Park life-saving station, 50 miles below Grand Marais, and was identified as that of Arvid Ohman, first mate of the steamer C. P. Curtis. The body was found by surfmen and well up on the beach. It was identified by letters in a coat pocket and by a tattoo on the arm.

Grand Rapids.—Unable to bear the taunts of her relatives and friends because her sweetheart, Martin Emperton, had committed suicide recently, Martha Dulakowski, died, Emperton took his life when he was unable to obtain funds with which to go to Detroit to attend the funeral of his sister.

Port Huron.—Fire of unknown origin damaged the city hall at Sarnia. The blaze started on the second floor and spread rapidly toward the free. A patrolman discovered the fire. Several prisoners confined in the basement were taken out without being injured. The loss is about twenty-five thousand dollars with $15,000 insurance.

Macdonald.—Sheriff J. T. Eggers of Greeney county, Kentucky, located and placed under arrest his son, Ernest Eggers, who is wanted in Greeney for murder. Eggers located his son in the Stearns Salt & Lumber company camp ten miles from here. Sheriff Eggers on his return to Greeney will take a $200 fine with him. Vandergriff, an escaped convict, whom he located on a recent trip here.

Hastings.—Three men were injured when the Woodstock mill, owned by the U. S. Rubber company, was damaged to the extent of $25,000. George Hotchkiss clung to a window ledge when escape was cut off, then fell to the ground while firemen were attempting to rescue him, dislocating one shoulder and fracturing several ribs. J. Clyde Sporkin of Grand Rapids fell 20 feet from a ladder sustaining a fractured arm and other serious injuries. Alfred Darling fell down a flight of stairs and was slightly injured.

Detroit.—Mrs. Margaret McCready of Ypsilanti was found not guilty of sending obscene letters through the mails. The case had been on trial all week in the United States court. A score or more of unsigned "polite" letters were sent to prominent residents of Ypsilanti. Most of them charged immorality on the part of husbands or wives and, it is said, a number of families were broken up as a result. Mrs. McCready was accused with the announcement of the verdict. She was removed to a hospital with pneumonia, through physicians, she will be compelled to remain for some weeks.

Ionia.—Adelbert Nicholson, attorney at law of Portland, was acquitted of a charge of attempted murder. The Nicholson case was one of the strangest that ever has been tried here. Elmer Stephenson, an elderly mail carrier, also of Portland, claimed to have been nearly suffocated by acid fumes at his home. "The evidence apparently incriminated young Nicholson, a friend of the old man, and a high school student. Nicholson admitted he mixed sulphuric acid and outside of potassium and placed it outside the old man's bedroom door. He admitted practically all of the facts asserted by the prosecution except that he intended to kill Stephenson. As a defense he asserted Stephenson laid the plans himself and asked him to do the job, giving him five directions as to how to proceed. The boy said Stephenson gave him the signal when to mix the poison and placed it in the house."

Gadellie.—Dr. B. H. McMullen of this city is looking for 500 pieces of skin about the size of one finger of a pretty girl, young Goldie Gibbs, of Marion, eighteen years old, who was badly burned. To save her life it will be necessary to graft a large amount of skin on her back.

Houghton.—Nick Rieed, last of the trio that robbed Nellie Powers' roadhouse and murdered Albert Ruedel, the resident there, was found guilty of murder in the second degree, as were his associates, Giuseppe, Ombrini and Dominic Locaris, recently.

Grand Rapids.—George Brandt, vice-president of the Grand Rapids Brewing company, and William Yetts, secretary of the Velt Manufacturing company, were instantly killed when their automobile overturned at a sharp curve on Hood's lake road.

Calumet.—Isaac Kumpela, aged 55-years, of Delaware, Massachusetts, was killed by shooting himself in the head with a rifle with which his son had been hunting. Kumpela was a pioneer Finnish farmer and well-to-do. He was despondent.
