If numbers of our young people cannot get along without whispering and snickering all thru a church service, would it not be wiser for the board of directors of the churches to have a large annual appropriation? Let this allowance be invested in muzzles. Let these muzzles be hung in a convenient location in the church vestibule and any young person who has a grain of common sense or respect left will be sure to use one. If that will not work out by not put an Honor List in some prominent place?

What man or woman has lived the longest in this town? Who is the oldest person now living in Birmingham? This is the question we would like to have our readers answer. The other day we saw a lady whom it is said is 93 years old, out in her front yard cutting the tall grass with scissors. This made us wonder if she is not the oldest resident and we are afraid to tell you her age, ladies. All communications will be strictly confidential. If you are a resident of Birmingham Eccentric or call L. O. O. F.

Royal Oak has just had a school census completed. The Royal Oak Tribune says: James A. Wilson, who has been busily engaged for the past two weeks taking the school census, has reported to the board of trustees 701 children in the district, which practically comprises the village of Royal Oak, but excludes the eastern portion of the village, and they took 63 of our children with them. This means that we have overcome this shrinkage and added 69 more new ones. So our real increase for this year is 125. Royal Oak is bound to grow with this new material coming forth.

In a recent interview with Dr. E. M. Miller of Detroit, he said: "This cancer can be cured if fast in the hands of the physicians are skeptical and the patients themselves sometimes question the diagnosis when they find themselves relieved. We very often meet this skepticism in both the profession and public. He also goes on to say that the education of the public on these matters is the greatest need at the present time, to consult a physician on the first sign of any tumor or growth, for the time taken of which depends of the control of cancer mainly hopes. He also says that moles, freckles, warts, and other eruptions, such as irritation grow and become cancerous. Dr. Mather has devoted many years in this and foreign countries on the studies of cancerous disease.
