WHITEHEAD AND STANDART

SEWER NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to property owners of the following streets in the City of Birmingham, Alabama, to construct the following sewerage improvements: ...

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

In the Circuit Court for the County of Oakland, Edward R. Smith, complainant, vs. Ada G. Dewar, et al. defendants. At a session of the said Court, held at the Court House in the City of Pontiac, Ala., on the 15th day of June, A. D. 1914, and present, the Honorable George W. Smith, Circuit Judge. In this cause it appeared that the said defendant, Ada G. Dewar, is not a resident of this State, but a resident of the State of Pennsylvania, on the 15th day of June, A. D. 1914. ...

Hair Mussed by Lightning.

Edward Kones prefers in the future to comb his own locks and wishes lightning would leave them alone. When his house, in Sullivan county, was struck the electricity plowed small furrows about his skull, taking the hair off his head in every place it touched. His injuries, besides destroying his hair, it is said, were slight.—Philadelphia North American.

Utilizing the By-Product.

"James," said the efficiency expert, annoyed by the cheerless habit which his chauffeur had of whistling while at his work, "you should remember that the greatest fortunes nowadays are made from the by-products of waste. Hereafter when you whistle, whistle in the tires and save me the expense of a pump."—Harper's Weekly.

True Heroine.

Our idea of a true heroine is a woman who could talk back, but doesn't.—Chicago News.

GOOD JOKES

AN IRONICAL SUGGESTION.
"Our country place will have to be painted," said Mrs. Cumrox.
"Yes," replied her husband.
"And the grass will have to be mowed, and the barn needs a lot of fixing up."
"Yes."
"And the plumbing is out of repair and the roof leaks. There are so many things to be done that I think you ought to be on hand to oversee the work."
"All right."
"I hope you're not annoyed."
"Not annoyed, only pained. I can't understand how I let you persuade me to name that place 'Idle-Ease.'"
"Rubbing it in."
"Why does that lady grin so every time she sees you?"
"She knows I'm only getting $10 a week."
"But why the grin?"
"I was engaged to her once and broke it off, and she afterward married a millionaire."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WOULD BE USEFUL.
Wife—"I wish you would get some of those baseball players to spend the coming summer with us."
Hubby—"What for?"
Wife—"The papers say they are 'death on files.'"

An Accident.
Somer—"What's the matter with Bill Sault?"
Sault—"He was in a railroad accident."
Somer—"Too bad."
Sault—"Yes, in getting into an upper berth he slipped and stood on the face of the fellow in the lower. And the guy in the lower was a white hope."—Penn State Froth.

His Status.
"Are you making much social progress?" asked the intimate friend of a newly-rich man.
"Oh, yes," answered the millionaire. "I've been playing the game for a year and I estimate that I am about five feet nearer the social scale of society and about six miles nearer the poorhouse than I was when I started."

Locating It.
"You ought to be contented and not fret for your old home," said the mistress as she looked into the dim eyes of her young Swedish maid. "You are earning good wages, your work is light, everyone is kind to you, and you have plenty of friends here."
"Saul!" said the girl, "but it is not the place where I do be that makes me vera homey; it is the place where I don't be."—Youth's Companion.

A Hint.
Mother—"I can't have that young man staying here so late at night. You must give him a hint of some kind."
Daughter (in the evening)—"I am much afraid something will happen to you on the streets at night. You must be more careful of yourself, and not be out so late. If anything should happen to you, I'd—I'd die!"—New York Weekly.

Historic.
"Say, waiter," said the traveling man to the hotel waiter, "what kind of chicken do you call this?"
"That's a Plymouth Rock, I believe," replied the waiter.
"I'm glad it has some claim to historic mention," said the man. "I thought it was just an ordinary cobblestone."

Of No Use to Him.
Coal Dealer—"Why don't you wheel the barrow along more quickly, Fat? It's not a very heavy job, there's an inclined plane to relieve you."
Fat—"Aye, master, the plane may be inclined, but hang me, if I am!"—Pearson's Weekly.

NOT VIOLA'S FAULT.
Eileen—Viola is to be married to July. She always said she meant to be a June bride. I wonder how it happened she was so late.
Eleanor—"I think it was the fault of the man, who neglected to ask her in time."

Proving Her Love.
"You have squandered my entire fortune!"
"Well, before we were married you asked me if I would love you as well if you were poor, and I said I would, and I have made you poor to convince you I told the truth."

Looked Alike to Him.
Diner—"I think I'll try some fish today."
Waitress—"Bluefish or whitefish, sir?"
Diner—"It doesn't matter; I'm color blind."—Boston Transcript.

Taking Notice.
Miss Polly—"Well, Sally, did you have a nice visit to the city?"
"Miss Polly—indeed I did. We went to a party where we saw the tangle-toe danced and the girls drank Roman above."
Correct.
"How should the new warden of a state prison begin a letter of thanks to the governor for his appointment?"
asked the Boob.
"I now take my pen in hand," replied the Cheerful Idiot.

Miss Homeleigh—Perhaps you won't believe it, but a strange man tried to kiss me once.

Miss Cutting—Really? Well, he'd been a very strange man if he'd tried to kiss you twice.

Statesman and Politician.
The statesman can explain all tricks by just a passing glance at 'em. But owing to shrewd politics, he seldom gets a chance at 'em.

Costly Habit.
"My husband sees pink elephants when he drinks."
"Mine has a worse delusion than that. He sees green dogs. It's very expensive, too."
"How's that?"
"Why, he goes and buys leopards for 'em."—New York Globe.

Formalities.
"What's the trouble about that salute?" asked the impatient warrior.
"There's a slight delay. A search is being made."
"You haven't mislaid the cannon, have you?"
"No. But we can't find our handbook of etiquette."

False Impression.
She—How can baseball men wear furs in warm weather when they're playing?
He—"Wear furs? Of course, they don't wear furs? That's nonsense."
She—"Well, I saw in a paper describing a game that one of the players had a costly muff."

Deceitful Appearances.
Minister (calling on inmate of prison)—Remember, Mr. Kenney, that stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage.
Kenney—"Well, they've got me hypnotized, then; that's all."—Dallas News.

Irreverence.
Were old Beethoven here today, he'd find this world exceeding rough. "Cut out the symphonies," he'd say. "Tear off some real tango stuff!"

The Wedding Present.
Young Bride (after placing the new vase)—I suppose there's no fear of it falling?
Groom—"You mean, no hope.—The Tattler.

Trouble Avoided.
Noah had just landed on Arrarat. "Pardon!" he exclaimed.
"What's 'pardon'?" asked Japheth.
"That we got this trip over with thousands of years before there could be any misunderstanding about canal tolls."

A Hard One.
Critie—"Why don't you put a porous plaster on that bump?"
Manager—"What for?"
Critie—"It is about the only thing which will ever make it draw."

Censored Reports.
"I want to see a fortune teller the other day," said Miss Cayenne.
"Do you believe in that sort of thing?"
"No. But this fortune teller always makes agreeable predictions. God news has become so scarce of late that I'm willing to pay to hear some."

Angelic Fans.
Some members of the human race "believe" while shaking off their sins. That Heaven is a glorious place. In which the home team always wins.

We're Opposed to Mail Order Concerns Because—
They have ever constituted a cost to furthering the interests of our town—
Every cent received by them from this community is a direct loss to our merchants.
In almost every case their price on goods is higher than without delay in receiving goods and the possibility of mistakes in filling orders.
But—
The actual human touch to help where goods are cheaper. Local price is usually secondary in the game of life as played today.
Mr. Merchant and Business Men, meet your competition with their own newspaper advertising.
Advertise!
The local field is yours. All you need is the right advertising, all of the opportunities offered.
An advertisement in this paper will carry your message into hundreds of homes in this community. It is the surest medium of lifting your greatest competitor. A space this size won't cost you much. Come in and see us about it.

An Abroad!
"Do you are living in the suburbs now," said Jasper. "I should think you would find the walking bad there."
"Walking?" replied Mr. Nutley, "who said anything about walking? No one walks in the suburbs. We commuters always have to run."
