Plain to Him. Among those visiting an art exhibition held recently in Cincinnati was an old German, who wandered about, looking at the paintings with interest. Finally, he stopped before a portrait which showed a man sitting in a high-backed chair. "Reached to the frame was a plain white placard, reading: 'A portrait of J. F. Jones, by himself.'"

"The good Teuton read the card, and then chuckled sarcastically: 'Vot fools is dese art loopers, he muttered. 'Anybody dot books at dot picture would know dot Jones is by himself. Nobody else is in der picture.'

FRENCH FRONTIER SCENE OF FIRST GREAT BATTLE

Alsace and Belgium Are The Fields Where Great Armies Clash

PARIS DISPATCHES CLAIM FRENCH ARE HOLDING OWN

Real Accounts of Happenings at Front Are Hidden by Curtains of Censorship Maintained by Powers Concerned.

Paris—Fighting of a character that can be nothing less than an immediate preliminary to the first great battle of the European war was reported Tuesday all along the French frontier, from Switzerland and Belgium to the north in the country as Lorraine, some 200 miles in all.

Owing to strict censorships, especially on the part of Germany, news of engagements are almost as practically all of the dispatches are of French or English source. It is likely that they are one-sided accounts, but the French are certainly not to be deceived.

The French war office issued this communiqué at 11:20 o'clock Tuesday night:

"Our troops are in contact with the enemy along almost the whole front."

"The Germans attacked the French advanced posts at Mangelingen, in the district of Spiez, near the northern border of the French territory, on the 11th."

"The Germans commenced to retire, but soon, thanks to the intervention of our reserves which were close at hand, again took the offensive. The enemy was driven back with considerable losses."

"Our artillery destroyed a German battery. We captured three cannons, three machine-guns and two caissons of munitions."

"It is reported that a German cavalry regiment suffered enormous losses."

"A German battery brought up from Vise tried to attack the advanced posts in the Chateauvalin district, but were driven off with heavy losses."

"German troops appeared at Longwy and called on the French commander to surrender. He has declined. Longwy is properly equipped, not a fortified place. It has no detached fortifications except at Vauvan, and these, like the surrounding works, date from the seventeenth century."

"The village of Lagarde, in German territory, is reported to have been taken by the French at the point of the bayonet."

"The Germans around Liege are digging trenches. They have destroyed the railroad from Liege to Louvain."

Germany Cavalry Active.

Brussels—Ten thousand German cavalry with gatling guns and followed by infantry are operating between Tongres and St. Trond.

This seems to be a change in the German tactics and a turning movement to the north.

Hostilities have begun between German cavalry and the Belgian cavalry outposts in the Hesbaye district. This district is to the west of Liege and north of the Meuse, and forms part of the province of Liege, Limbourg and Namur.

The Germans have begun a systematic reconnoitering of Hesbaye in order to discover the positions of the Belgian forces and to place their patrols are followed by infantry detachments.

One detachment of German cavalry is said to have passed the outskirts of Lixhe, following a route to the south.

The Germans are following a route to the south from the station of Lixhe, following a route to the south.

WAR BRIEFS

Sofia—Premier Radostoff announced in the Sbornik that Bulgaria had determined to observe the strictest neutrality but must take measures to repulse any violation of her frontiers.

Ottawa—Col. Samuel Hughes, minister of militia, said Tuesday night that he had received enough offers from American citizens in various parts of the United States to compose four companies to go to the front.

LONDON—The Bank of England has been paying out gold exchange for paper money and financial confidence was fully restored Friday.

LONDON—War Minister Lord Kitchener's appeal for recruits for the British army is meeting with a response which surpasses anything in the memory of the oldest war office attaché.

The response of men of all ages stand all day in front of the recruiting stations awaiting examination, some in silk hats, some poorly clothed, but all burning with the martial spirit of the hour.

LONDON—The Cunard liner Lusitania which sailed from New York early Wednesday morning and was reported pursued by German boats, arrived safely in the Mersey Tuesday evening.

Paris—The French invasion of Germany began Friday. It was announced that the army which troops of the French had crossed the border and captured Vic and Mayen. Silk German towns in Alsace-Lorraine, about 20 miles from Nancy.

MADE THE CONDUCTOR SMILE

Dignified Lady Thought: "She Was Handing Me My Ticket. But It Was Something Else."

"With an air of satisfaction, a dignified matron in the South side settled herself in a section of the Pullman bound for Chicago—the first stage in a trip to Europe, relates the Kansas City Star. Presently came the conductor, and the woman handed him a small envelope. The conductor had grizzled hair and eyes that twinkled like stars, and carefully at the object he drew from the envelope. 'Did you think, madam,' he asked, 'that you could ride to Chicago on my own private car?'"

"Why, of course I did," said the woman.

"That I do not think I can possibly accept as an transportation to Chicago," persisted the conductor, whose eyes were now frankly laughing. The woman became very reserved, but her eyes flashed. "On what grounds do you refuse my ticket?" she demanded.

"At this she conductor could not restrain his mirth. He held up the object he had taken from the envelope. 'I didn't—no, I couldn't have given you my own private car,'" he said.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Finds Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have pains if I ever worked or lifted any thing heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what good medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A. B. BOCAMP, 504 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.
