STRONG DEMAND FOR HORSES AND MULES

Slow and Steady Wins

Suppose your savings account with us when started shows only a dollar to your credit. Suppose you make a practice of adding to it a dollar every week—every week. Suppose that you continue this for three or four years—

The Difference

Between a dollar saved and a dollar spent is two dollars. Have you ever thought of it in that way? The dollar saved gives you a feeling of satisfaction while the dollar spent gives a feeling of regret.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION—General. State of Michigan, in the County of Oakland, At a session of said Court held at the Court House in said County, on the 14th day of August, 1914.

The big demand in Europe for army horses has developed in certain parts of this country a hunter type of horse that has good size and conformation and great endurance.

A mixture of 80 pounds oats to 20 pounds wheat bran is very suitable for stallions, and is a common basis for feeding them during the breeding season.

The feeding of the foal should begin from the very first day, starting with the dam. She should run on a good blue grass pasture and be given a ration consisting of corn, oats and bran.

Stick to drafters and heavy carriage horses on the farm. They are always salable and bring good prices.

Bad digestion, a rough coat and a poorly nourished body are always the result of improperly balanced food.

Protein is very important factor. Essential to live stock, especially to milk producing or growing young animals.

Protein is a very important element of food to every farmer who keeps any kind of live stock and especially those that produce milk or grow young animals.

It is an element of food that cannot be omitted from the ration in order to produce the muscle and nerves of the animal.

Protein may be used to a certain extent as a substitute for the carbohydrates or heat and fat-forming elements of food, but the carbohydrates cannot be used as substitutes for protein.

It is protein in the concentrates such as cotton seed meal and linseed meal, tankage, that makes them such valuable feed stuffs.

So much has been written on the necessity of protein and the value of the concentrates as furnishers of this most valuable element of food, that they have raised the price so much that farmers will have to rely to a greater extent upon growing their own protein.

This may be done by growing more clover, alfalfa and cow peas. Alfalfa and cow peas are about equal in value as furnishers of protein if well handled and when well taken care of are worth about the same, ton for ton, as wheat bran.

A little calculation and comparison of prices and yields of alfalfa and cow peas per acre will readily show the economy of growing protein on the farm rather than buying it in the open market.

This is not all; the soil is improved by the growing of crops so far as the nitrogen content is concerned. There is much more nitrogen left in the soil after a crop of clover, cow peas or alfalfa is harvested than there was before the crop was grown.

The crop harvested is as profitable for work and performance as most any of the cereals. With most farmers it will soon be a matter of necessity to grow more protein on the farm in order to make a success of the business.

Retain Color and Leaves. Clover and alfalfa, tured in the field, will retain their color and their leaves. The first adds to the selling value, and the latter to the feeding worth of the crop.

Seed Crop Profitable. The acre can be made highly profitable if devoted to the growing of seed crop of the most productive variety for the neighborhood.

Save Choice Seed. Save seed from some of the choicest plants in the garden. In this way one can develop a strain especially adapted to his soil.

Touch Up This Places. Touch up the thin places in the meadow by applying a thin top dressing of well-rotted manure.

Shoes that Resist Wear. Boys and Girls in school demand the greatest possible service from Shoes. Shoes that would wear an older person for years give way beneath the energetic strides of vigorous youth. The youth jumps, leaps, bounds where an older person walks with measured tread—and the Shoes must bear the brunt of the load. That's why we take such pains in selecting our School Shoes. Every pair must measure up to our standard of quality. We know the service demanded and as far as lies within our power we provide Shoes that will give this service.

Henry Pauli's Sons Pontiac. The man who is downed by one crop failure has no place on the farm.
