These are the highest prices Walker ever received for such stock. Walker is 81 and has fed cattle and hogs for the Chicago market for 52 years. Within this period he has sold the best cattle as low as $3.75 per 100 pounds and the best hogs at $2.50 and has seen corn selling at eight cents per bushel such as now brings 80 cents.

Owing to a misunderstanding of some of the election clerks applying the attorney general's decision upon the National committeemen being elected in caucus rather than at the primary election to the delegates to the county convention as well, quite a number of voting precincts thruout the county did not elect delegates to the county convention of their party. The County Committee of the National Progressive Party has resigned the use of the Assembly room to the Republican convention owing to their larger number of delegates and the Progressive convention will be held in the supervisor's room on the third floor of the County building, Pontiac, instead of the assembly room, first floor.

A resident of Woodward avenue, has been poo-hooing about the war scare and the high cost of living and recently, when the cook was gone for the day, announced that it was dinner time and he was going home to have a good, old-fashioned bread and milk diet for one day at least, but upon calling at the different stores where such things are usually kept, discovered the bread supply was exhausted and there wasn't a bottle of milk to be had for love, money or marbles. He was too mad to buy anything else, so he took a reef in his belt and went on a starvation strike with the suffragettes. Such a stubborn ness ! !

In answer to the question, "What is the fundamental conception of Osteopathy?" the Osteopathic Catechism says: "That abnormal functioning of the body is of necessity dependent upon structural defect; that the sort of structural alteration first in order of occurrence is mechanical displacement, derangement in relationship, maladjustment of parts, and that such mechanical disorder serves to obstruct nerves or blood vessels, thereby perverting nutrition. Disturbances of functions result which, if not checked, lead on finally to visible, palpable deteriorations in structure known as organic "lesions." Thus the earliest and commonest cause of disease is affirmed to be—not a change in the substance of one's tissues, but a disturbance in their relative arrangement.

"All dressed up and some place to go," was the situation of the Volunteer Fire department last Wednesday evening. While enjoying the beauty of Baldwin park during a social at 9:30 o'clock in the evening, the fire whistle made the fire eaters remember their lot was not all golry making girls' hearts beat faster every time they looked at a new uniform. Edward Smith, in his Saxon car, brought the boys up town where they annexed the hose cart and hook and ladder. Owing to a mistake in the fire signal the entire department was taken to the Baptist church. Finally, the entire out-fit arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer, of Baldwin street. George had had a real ride home. Mrs. Spencer had gone to the park for the evening, leaving the current turned on the electric flat iron. Left to itself the flatiron had burned entirely through the board, fallen to the floor and burned through the rug and floor. When Mrs. Spencer returned to the house she was greeted with a rush of smoke. Running to a neighbor's to give the alarm by phone Mrs. Spencer collapsed but was quickly revived. Loss was $5.00.
