Horticultural Advice

AVOID CODLING MOTH INJURY

Many Owners of Fruit Trees Do Not Realize Importance of Spraying —Work Not Complex.

(By C. G. WOODBURY.)

After years of the most forcible object lessons in the way of regular yields and good profits from sprayed orchards and irregular yields and no profits from unsprayed orchards, the fact still remains that many owners of fruit trees do not yet realize the importance of the subject. It cannot be doubted, on the other hand, that many possessors of orchards realize something of the importance of spraying, pruning and other methods of orchard hygiene, and yet fail to begin this work because they regard it as complex, hard to understand, difficult to accomplish, disagreeable and expensive. The work is not complex and, considering the results which follow it, is very inexpensive. Spraying pays. Every owner of fruit trees should plan to give them some attention in the way of spraying. This is essential to the continued production of good fruit.

In order to obtain results, however, it is necessary for the fruit grower to spray intelligently. He must know what he is spraying for; he must know something of the life history or disease in question, so that he can prepare his material and time its application most effectively.

For instance, every orchardist should know that it is the larva or young of the codling moth that is responsible for our wormy apples and act accordingly. The treatment is to spray with an arsenical poison, paris green or arsenate of lead, immediately after the petals fall, using three pounds of arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of bordeaux mixture or of water. If paris green is used it should be at the rate of from six to eight ounces to each fifty gallons of spray. This spraying should be repeated in about ten days. Where the second brood of codling moth causes damage, a further spraying should be given. In latitudes similar to northern Indiana, in the latter part of July; in southern Indiana, about two weeks earlier. The first codling moth spraying, given just after the petals fall, should be as thorough as it can possibly be made. Some of the poison should be gotten into the calyx throat of every blossom on the tree.

CURRANT IS EASILY GROWN

Hellebore Dusted Over Bushes Is Sure Remedy for Worms—Not Much Care Is Required.

Some of us remember the long rows of currant bushes which always bordered grandmother's garden. Some of us, too, remember the delicious desserts of scarlet and white fruit, cooled with a dash of spring water, and served with sugar.

Rarely is the fruit offered now and the following seems the most plausible explanation:

The appearance of the currant worm stripped the bushes of leaves and soon destroyed their vitality. They became an eyesore rather than a source of delight and were destroyed.

While it has been known for years that hellebore dusted over the bushes when wet with dew is a sure remedy, the next generation have failed to renew the currant rows, and, as a result, the far-famed currant jelly, one of the most delicious of relishes, has been almost forgotten.

The currant is easily grown, comes into bearing speedily, and requires less care than most of the small fruit.

Cuttings should be made in September and October, and planted in rows. These may have some slight protection during the winter, though it is not absolutely necessary.

In the spring there will be as a result a fine bed of rooted cuttings, which may be left for a year undisturbed, or then transplanted to the garden row.

Spraying with bordeaux mixture is a good remedy for the fungous growth sometimes attacking the foliage.

Less Complaints.

If reliable nurserymen, those who are really interested in the development of the fruit industry, are patronized and the stock bought from them is well handled before, during and after planting, complaints from planters will be few.

Renovating an Old Orchard.

If 50 per cent of the trees are in healthy condition, and if in addition a small per cent can be brought back into bearing by pruning and by the removal of disease, it will pay to renovate an old orchard. Most western orchards are planted too thickly. An orchard twenty-five to thirty years old is not too old to renovate.

Don't Put Off Pruning.

Don't leave the pruning until too late when the orchard is muddy and unpleasant to work in.

Don't Forget!

An eminent physician lays down these simple rules for better health:

1.—Drink lots of water. 2.—Eat slowly. 3.—Chew your food well. 4.—Have plenty of chewing gum on hand. Use it shortly after meals and chew until the "full" feeling disappears.

Be sure of the Perfect Gum in the Perfect Package—made clean, kept clean, sealed against all impurities:

IMMENSE QUANTITY OF WHEAT TIED UP

There Will Still, However, Be a Heavy Deficit of the World's Normal Crop.

A grain expert who has been watching the grain markets and the world's grain fields for a number of years, says:—

"There is at the present time about two billion bushels of wheat, the production of the countries at war, tied up. This is about one-half the world's total production of wheat, which is four billion bushels. One writer argues that, granting that the warring nations produce a one-half crop in the coming year, a deficit of one billion bushels will still be shown. The three countries upon which the filling of this deficit of one billion bushels will rest are the United States, Canada, and Argentina. The combined output of these three countries is only 1,248,000,000, their exportable surplus would of course be much less, so it can easily be seen that the question is not one to be easily solved and it behooves all the above countries to increase their respective productions as much as they possibly can, for when the war is over and trade begins to re-establish itself, and the nations undergo a process of rehabilitation, the demand for all breadstuffs will be enormous.

"During the three years following the declaration of peace the farmers of all neutral wheat-producing countries will have ample opportunity to market their wheat at good prices, and it may safely be assumed that the demand will be heavy. Canada has an unusual opportunity in that she has the natural environment for wheat production; she is under the protection of the British flag, and she will not be molested upon the water; to any great extent; she can increase her acreage and greatly enhance her production. In other words, she can become a far greater wheat-producing country than she is at the present time."

If the summing-up as made by this expert be correct, is there not the very best reason for the continued effort that is being made by the Government of the Dominion of Canada to secure settlers on the productive vacant lands of the country? Not only are these lands capable of producing high class wheat in large quantities, but cattle, pigs, sheep and horses also do well. The climate is admirably suited.

Canada is Calling You to her Rich Wheat Lands

She extends to Americans a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 160 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help to feed the world by tilling some of her soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think what you can make with wheat around $1 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The Government, this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain.
