HIGHEST HONOR

Goes to Birmingham Boy at Second Annual Boys' Conference Held at Pontiac Last Week.

One of the reasons why the people of Birmingham should know about the Second Annual Boys' Conference, Oakland County at Pontiac, is the fact that the boys of Birmingham were considered the leaders in the entire event. Even though the conference will not be held in this city next year, the boys who attended from here feel no regrets in this because of the important positions held by Birmingham.

At 2 p. m. Friday last, the registration at the Y. M. C. A. building began. Each delegate was obliged to register, whereupon he received the official delegate badge and other credentials.

It was at the meeting of the Nominating Committee at 5 o'clock the same day that Birmingham gained her greatest victory. When Raymond Peck, of our village, arrived at the meeting he found that he had been elected president of the conference. This position is envied by every boy of the Conference and to think that "Ray" gained this honor, made his friends from Birmingham swell with pride. This surely is a just reward for the earnest endeavor and hard work he has put into the Y. M. C. A. cause for the last two years. The other officers elected were: Vice president, Garland Elliott, Pontiac; secretary, Leon Cobb, Orion; treasurer, Weaver, Rochester.

A banquet was held at the First M. E. church that evening, which was a great success. Louis Reiman, the husky U. of M. tackle, made his bow to the delegates, and won the favor of everyone present. Wm. S. Power, manager of MacManus Adv. Co., Detroit, was the principal speaker, and he, too, inspired the boys and gave words of encouragement to their work in the Y. M. C. A.

Birmingham was given the honor of having the loudest voices at this occasion, and to be sure the various yells were clever to say the least.

Saturday brought the big general session. The speakers were all from the U. of M. and their words of advice were well worth remembering. Mr. Walter Bailey spoke chiefly of the Bible study at the U. of M. He was followed by W. O. R. Johnson, alias "Fred," who talked on the value of prayer. Louis Reiman spoke to some extent on the popular amusements. Each of these talks were followed by a discussion, and no doubt this meeting will remain in the minds of the delegates as being the very best one.

Birmingham "showed up" the rest of the Conference when it came to athletics. The boys completely won everything that was to be won. In the general session, Manager Beals challenged Oxford to a basket ball game. It was accepted. Birmingham won from Oxford 12 to 10. Holly defeated Rochester by a low score, which made it possible for Birmingham to play Holly. The game easily went to our boys, thereby giving Birmingham the undisputed Oakland County Y. M. C. A. championship.

That evening the entire Conference attended the Athletic Supper in the M. E. church. The fellows from the U. of M. spoke again, and the leading athletes from Pontiac talked. A delegate from each village gave a talk on the condition of athletics in their community.

On Sunday the delegates went to church and Sunday school with their hosts. In the meeting in the afternoon many boys decided to lead better lives and help the "other fellow" to do better. The evening service in the Congregational church was led by President Peck. Wellington H. Tinker, the religious work director of the U. of M., was the principal speaker and his talk was greatly enjoyed.

The biggest hit of the Conference was the Birmingham Quartette. The boys won the favor of every delegate, and their work will remain as one of the big events of the Conference.

It is at meetings like this one that the outsider can judge whether or not the work of the Y. M. C. A. is a success in Oakland county. The great work accomplished by the boys in the past year is wonderful. Since the beginning of this movement the conditions of whole sections have been changed from a deplorable condition to that of a high standard. If you want your boy to enjoy and receive the advantages of this work, have him join one of the groups in Birmingham.

Garrick Theatre.

The High Cost of Loving.

Lew Fields will make his debut in Detroit next Monday night, April 5th, as an A. H. Woods's star, in "The High Cost of Loving," at the Garrick Theatre. This is the famous farce-comedy in which Mr. Fields made such an emphatic hit during his long engagement earlier in the season at the Republic Theatre, New York. It is from the German, by Frank Mandel, and Mr. Fields' role is that of Ludwig Klinke, the "Mustard King," whose wife is head of the local Purity League. Ludwig joins the League because one of it's principles is never to investigate it's own members, and he has just learned that an investigation is proposed of certain rumors affecting a member of the community whose identity is unknown save to Ludwig himself, who has a guilty conscience. He is made Chairman of the investigating committee, and as the committee gets "warmer" in its progress, Ludwig begins to suffer tortures until his famous mustard is stone cold in comparison to the situation.

In support of Mr. Fields, Manager Woods is sending to the Garrick the same company that lent so much assistance to the popular comedian during the long run in New York, including James Lackeye, Alice Fisher, Ernest Lambert, Wilfred Clarke, George Hassell, Charlotte Ives, Thomas Carrigan, Nicholas Burnham, Ida Darling and Amy Sumers, all of whom were in the original New York east.

During the week's engagement there will be the usual matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.
