IDEAL WOMEN OF THE PAST

Live in History as the Inspiration of Men Who Led the World in Art and Learning.

"All inspiration comes from woman." In these words Castiglione sums up medieval ideas and theories on the subject. Here it is to inspire man with hope and courage on the battlefield and in the council chamber, in the pursuit of art and learning, in the higher paths of virtue and religion, to point the way upward and lift hearts from earth to heaven.

So it was that the boy Raphael grew up in the enchanted air of Urbino under the fostering care of the good duchess; so Isabella d'Este heard young Ariosto recite the first cantos of his great poem, or gave Montaigne and Costa themes for their pictures in the studio of the grim old castello that looks down on the Mantuan lake and the windmills of "smooth-sounding Mincus."

So Veronica Gambara smiled on the early efforts of the painter Correggio, and Vittoria Colonna soothed the loneliness of Michelangelo's weary old age.

By their delicate culture and refined taste these noble women brought art into close touch with life.

By their gracious and kindly sympathy they cheered the artist souls that were struggling toward the light, and helped to produce immortal works. Will posterity say as much for the women of our own age? Exchange.

SHUNNED BY THE MEXICANS

Caves Supposed to Be "Possessed by the Devil," Into Which None Willingly Enter.

"Ancient caves in different parts of Mexico often contain the skulls and bones of former inhabitants. Whether prehistoric or of later times, sometimes containing fine fashioned tint implements.

"The natives, as a rule, fear to go into these places. 'Do not enter, son,' they will say, as with Anglo-Saxon lack of superstition you determine to explore them, 'some evil will fall upon you who meddle with the remains of the dead.'

"And if they are prevailed upon to assist them cross themselves devoutly before descending or ascending. Weir tales they unfold afterward of men who have gone into such places and found their exit barred by some evil spirit, they themselves having been encountered dead and cold upon the cavern floor when discovered by their relatives, who had searched for the missing one!

"According to the poem, the scenes of murder or wickedness which may have taken place in such situations are enacted again to the terrified vision of the unhappy witnesses who had the honor to venture into these places possessed of the devil, for the king of darkness is an ever-present and active element of the poor Mexican's superstitious world."

Her Bright Outlook.
"How are you going to spend the summer?"
"Pa's rented a cottage again, and I suppose 'll spend it in the kitchen cooking fish for our city friends to eat, the way I did last year." - Detroit Free Press.

Becoming Bald.
"Mamma! I was a new hairbrush."
"Why, Tommie?"
"Because my old one is getting bald."

Love's Dilemma.
"They are both in love with you, Fannie. Which one do you prefer?"
"I can't decide to save my life," said the summer girl. "One has a gorgeous roadster and the other has a stunning motorboat."

The Right Time.
"How did Bill manage to coax his father to get him a motorcycle?"
"I suppose he asked for it at the eye-logical moment!"

Why Post Toasties?

A question that's fully answered by your first package of the New Post Toasties.

These Superior Corn Flakes are delightfully crisp to start with, and they have a body and firmness that stay crisp, even after cream is added.

New Post Toasties

have the real corn flavour. Eat them dry direct from the package and they please amazingly, but serve these tender, crisp bits of corn with milk or cream and at once you realize that the day of ordinary "corn flakes" is past.

All grocers have been supplied with the New Post Toasties, fresh from the factory oven. An order to your grocer will bring a package quickly.

The HOME BEAUTIFUL

Flowers and Shrubs
Their Care and Cultivation

Francis Scott Key Rose, Named After the Author of "The Star Spangled Banner" - The Flowers Are Usually Large and Double.

IN THE HOME GROUNDS

By EBYEN E. REKFOR.

This month will be a busy one for the gardener. There will be plants to put out, weeds to pull, insects to kill - quite enough to keep one at work most of the time.

I do my transplanting on cloudy days, if possible, but if the weather persists in being sunny, I do the work after sundown. Before lifting seedlings, I apply enough water to thoroughly saturate the soil in which it is growing. If this is done, the young plant can be moved without exposure to the roots, and it will receive no check whatever, but will keep on growing as if nothing had happened to it. But allow its tender delicate roots to be exposed to air for even so little a time and you run a serious risk of losing your plant.

If this does not happen, it will take a long time to recover.

One cannot be too careful with anything as delicate as a seedling plant. In bright weather newly transplanted seedlings will require shading for a day or two. I cut out a circle of coarse brown paper, about a foot across, make a slit to the center on one side of it, and fold the paper over two or three inches, running a wire out and in through the folded part. This wire serves to hold the paper together and acts as a support for the little brown paper umbrella.

It should be at least twelve inches long - long enough to insert in the ground close to the seedling, and hold the paper close well above the plant it is designed to protect. This kind of a covering keeps the sun away from the plant, but does not interfere with free circulation of air about it.

What kind of a support are you going to give your gladioli? Trying their stalks to sticks gives them such a stiff and prim appearance that I always feel sorry for the poor gladioli. A stick in the center of a clump does not furnish a really satisfactory support to the stalks on the outside of it, and is kept supported on sticks is open to the objection of being only a little better than nothing.

Here is my plan - and one that works well, and can be readily carried out. I take a strip of coarse mesh wire - netting of the size of the bed

WANDERER RETURNS AND RE-WEDS WIFE

This Enoch Arden Story From California Has a "Happy Ending."

San Francisco, Cal. - A FORTUNATE OF the Enoch Arden type, bridging a gap of fifteen years, with separation, remarriage and lost affection as obstacles, has just found its "happy ending" here.

Fifteen years ago Herbert Winner of this city and his wife were divorced. He disappeared. Mrs. Winner, thinking him dead, married C. Lundberg, also of San Francisco. Mr. Lundberg died in 1912.

Some months later Mrs. Lundberg's father, happening to be in St. Helena,

DIAGNOSED HIS OWN CASE

Noted Baltimore Surgeon Told Surgeons to Remove His Appendix as Well as Gallstones.

Baltimore - A series of delicate operations successfully performed a few days ago at Johns Hopkins hospital upon Dr. Thomas S. Callen, the noted surgeon, demonstrated that a complete diagnosis had made of his condition while lying on the operating table was exactly correct.

Dr. J. M. T. Finney had charge of the operation, which started out on July 31. In the few minutes of waiting the two men discussed the operation. Then it was that Doctor Callen made the diagnosis.

He said he felt sure that there was something else wrong with him besides gallstones and that something else was an incident case of appendicitis. He said that before the operation was over and himself out of the ether that he would be minus his appendix. After the gallstones were removed it was found necessary to remove the appendix.

U. S. NOTES WOVEN IN TOWEL

Extraordinary Counterfeit Discovered by Secret Service Agents in Washington.

Washington - Secret service officials, long familiar with all the tricks of the counterfeit trade, were shocked into a show of surprise when Acting Chief Moran strolled into the office with what proved to be two four-foot long counterfeit towels tucked under one arm.

The counterfeiters were duplications of the faces of a five dollar and a ten dollar United States note, with the numerals, portraits and lettering woven into the texture of an ordinary bath towel.

HIS WAS A "FLOWER JAG"

Detroit Man Steals Poies When He Takes Trip to Liquor Board.

Detroit - Charles Nelson pleaded for mercy from the charge of stealing flowers on the grounds that the urge of his ancestors impelled him to pluck flowers from the waterworks park the other day.

"Whenever I get too much to drink a feeling that I must pluck flowers comes over me," he told Justice Galloway. "My people in Denmark are gardeners, and their people before them specialized in the flower trade."

Body Found After 32 Years

Skeleton of Man Drowned in 1883 Is Washed Up by Flood in Arkansas.

Texasarkana, Ark. - The skeleton of Frank Wilson, farmer, drowned in a canoe on the Red river 32 years ago, was found on a sand bar in that stream a few days ago, having been washed up by the recent flood.

The skeleton was found in all the clothes and a pair of boots Wilson wore at the time he met death. A knife and coin found in the pockets led to identify the victim. His family claimed the body.

Queen of the Belgians' Orchid.

$1,000 FOR AN ORCHID

One thousand dollars has been bid in the auction for the famous "Queen of the Belgians" orchid; the proceeds of the sale went to the Belgian relief committee of the American Red Cross. This beautiful orchid, cultivated by Clement Moore, was one of the features of the recent International Flower show.

The orchid, which is the only one of its kind in existence, and which connoisseurs have pronounced the most beautiful variety of Cattleya Schroderiana, is being cared for like a young baby. Following the English custom,

Mr. Stamp is keeping it locked in an air-tight glass case to prevent any possibility of the pest being stolen, for a mere touch of a feather or toothpick to its stems would secure sufficient pollen to make possible the breeding of a similar plant by hybridizing with another orchid. Strange to say, the fact that the glass case is absolutely airtight will preserve the blossoms for a longer time than if the plant were in the open air.

Clean trees, devoid of insect life, are a credit to any home, and no yard is complete without them - for shade as well as beauty.

Important "Don'ts."

Adam Smith, who, regardless of all criticisms by subsequent political economists, is still quoted by many writers as being the foremost figure in the history of economic thought, was born June 8, 1723, in Kirriemuir, Fifeshire, Scotland. It is said of him by historians that he was the founder of political economy as a separate branch of human knowledge, and that he wrote on the subject in any language failed to draw on that Scotch stream of reasoning.

NOT MODERN KIND OF BEAU

Girl of Today is Looking for Something Different From This Old-Too-Bashful "Chump."

The dear girls were comparing notes on subjects of more or less importance.

"Your beau seems rather bashful," said Stella.

"Bashful?" echoed Mabel. "Why, bashful is no name for it."

"Why don't you encourage him?" queried her friend.

"I have tried," answered Mabel, "but the attempt was a merely failure. Only last night I sat all alone on the sofa, and he perched up in the chair as far away as he could get. I asked him if he didn't think it strange that the length of a man's arm was the same as the distance around it, and he said, 'What do you think he'd do?' Just what any sensible man would have done - tried it, I suppose."

"Not any, thank you. He asked if I could find a piece of string, so we could measure and see if it was a fact, isn't he the limit?"

A Full Measure of Health is the reward of those who live right and eat right.

And as fresh air, exercise, and good food are the principal factors, it is important that food be selected which contains the essential nutritive elements in well-balanced, easily digestible form.

In making the famous wheat and barley food.

Grape-Nuts

the mauling of the barley brings out the diastase (the digestive element) while the long 20-hour soaking breaks down the starch cells of the grain. This Grape-Nuts does not tax the digestion, but actually assists in the assimilation of other food.
