CONFESSION IS VOLUNTARY

Truth of Prisoner's Story is Not Yet Assured But Some Features Have Been Verified.

New York—Robert Fay, self-styled lieutenant in the German army, and by his own confession head of a gang of bomb-makers that sought to disable the city of New York, told the story of his life Monday to Assistant United States District Attorney Knox.

Fay talked freely, fully and of his own volition for five hours without being made captive by the conclusion of the session. Mr. Knox announced that all pay wanted to do now was to plead guilty to the governments and to sign a confession.

The statement which the prisoner dictated carried him back to Germany, almost to the date of his birth, covered the details of his service in the German army, told in detail of an alleged mission to America and related his movements and activities here.

Whether it was true in its essentials, District Attorney Marshall said afterward, had yet to be determined. By informal reports it was verified that the prisoner's statement had collected from other sources.
