AVENUE

"Her Fatal Night" is the title of the play which has been selected for the coming week at the Avenue theatre, Detroit. "An Orphan's Prayer" will be presented the balance of the current week. The story of "The Fatal Night" briefly is this: Nellie Marshall is visiting the Catskills with her mother. She falls in love with Dick Morton, a young farmer, and they are engaged to be married. Mervin Delwynd, a scoundrel from the city and his mistress, Madge Rymer, plot against Dick, and tell Nellie that Dick has a wife living, which, of course, is false. Then Delwynd to get Nellie's fortune proposes to her and to get even with Dick for his supposed perfidy. Nellie accepts Delwynd; but Delwynd's deserted wife, Mona, appears at the church before the wedding ceremony. What follows must be seen and heard to be appreciated.

SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL

The program for Assembly was given by the Juniors. Dudley Hayes gave an excellent sketch of the life of Riley and Esther Smith recited "The Raggedy Man." The High School orchestra rendered a pleasing selection.

Leon Miller has withdrawn from Grade 10. It is hoped he may resume his work later.

Did you hear the High School band? It made its initial appearance last Thursday afternoon in preparation for the Friday football game parade. We expect it will develop fast now that it has made a public appearance.

The Seniors will be entertained by Miss Vera Bird at her home Friday evening, October 29, while the Sophomores will have a Hallowe'en party at the Barnum school.

Everyone missed Mr. Lamb when school opened Monday morning. We trust his illness is not serious.

The teachers gave a reception last Friday evening, October 22, at the High School to the Board of Education and invited guests. The library was charmingly decorated with autumn leaves and bittersweet, while the session room was given over to Jack-o-Lanterns. After a few remarks by President R. J. Coryell and a short speech by Superintendent Clarence Vliet everyone greatly enjoyed the vocal number given by Former Superintendent Rhoda Starr and the piano solo by Miss Clara Starr. Light refreshments were then served and a social hour spent in getting better acquainted.

BARNUM SCHOOL

Mrs. Field was a visitor in the Fourth grade last Wednesday.

Laurie Kraft is back in the Seventh grade after a week's absence on account of illness.

The Seventh grade is studying the very interesting subject of astronomy.

Charles Nesbrett and Leonar Campbell are back in the Eighth grade this week.

Avery Reynolds was absent from the Eighth grade the first of the week on account of illness.

Too Tame to Hunt.

In Scituate a fox which had been released as game for the hunters proved too tame. It refused to run from the dog that was released against it but ran up to one of the hunters, who took pity on it and picked it up.—Boston Globe.

Early American Plows.

The first important invention of a plow in this country to be patented was by Jethro Wood in 1819. He was a resident of Scipio, N. Y., and the first patent for a sulky plow in America was granted to H. Brown in 1846 but practical plows of this type were not made until 1864.

He "Muffed" the Ball.

Early Polish.

At least one little girl in New York is in line for a diplomatic position when the government decides to admit feminine aspirants to the sprys. She was sitting on a park bench the other afternoon, in company with another child about her own age. There was evidently some disagreement between them, and suddenly the district maiden turned to her obnoxious companion, smiled sweetly, and said: "Well, if one of us should get off this seat, I'd have more room."

Her Quaintness.

"Cu't 'ooman, mun wife is," complained Brother Hogus. "She'll believe any kind of a story 'bout a horrible; but she won't believe her own awful wedded husband one 'ith'." Didn't dat take 'bout Jonah and de whale? He began to tell me de whale was a fish, what kept me from believin' it was a mighty big fish, an' I stuck to my guns. Dat's what I call a stubborn 'ooman."—Atlanta Star.

The End of It All.

Measuring things by inches, by hours, by pounds and yardsticks measures everything measurable—except the one thing we call time. Time, which is producing the material things in life faster, more cheaply, more speedily, but it is pure nonsense question whether we are producing happier men and women than those we read of who are growing to 70 at the end of a day.

What a Woman Can Do.

A woman may not be able to write poetry, but she helps to make life a grand, sweet song every time she cans a bushel of cherries.—Toledo Blade.

His Desire.

"I'm going down to the hotel," said old Mr. Hayseed, "to consult that there celebrated surgeon who advertises to perform operations secretly without pain. I want to get him to cut off my worthless son-in-law."—Judge.

When the House Takes Fire.

Used early, a glass of water has more value than a fire brigade. If the amount of water at hand is limited it should be thrown by handfuls rather than in a single dash. A bucket of water and a broom to sprinkle constitute a good extinguisher for a starting fire. Don't throw water at the blaze—much less at the smoke—but upon the material from which the blaze comes. A coat, a rug, a bed cover, or few pounds of flour can be used to smother a small blaze and a feather bed will choke a quite rapacious fire.
