HOME

Mrs. Minnie McClellen will soon go to Ann Arbor to live.

The Hale family are entertaining Mrs. J. Hale, of Milan.

We are glad to note that Harry Nichols is again around on our streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lowe are visiting Mrs. Lowe's parents at Marlette.

Dr. and Mrs. John M. Rainey are entertaining Miss Sylvia Henck, of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Luscombe are home from a motor trip to Boston. Good time; no mishaps.

Miss Frances Rose passed two very happy weeks in Birmingham, the guest of Mrs. Frank Gordon.

Mrs. Fred L. Young is entertaining Mrs. Hetice, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. A. Schaible, of Ann Arbor.

At David Roy's they have for guests Miss Emma Freeman, of Croswell, and Miss Sarah Holmes, of Detroit.

Bert Whitney, agent for the D. U. R., has traded jobs with H. A. Gookey at Washington. Both delighted with the change.

Miss Marguerite Wooster is back from camp life at Walled Lake. It does seem good to the pleasant young lady to be back again in civilization.

Some bad man let James W. Cobb's wild and untamed but damaged hawk loose Monday morning last. Jim ain't offering any reward for the return of his hawkship.

Did you ever in all your life see such a cold August? Flower beds are blanketed, stoves being rushed up, fires started, and everybody shivering and muttering to everyone within hearing, "It's colderhell."

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Faint, of Chicago, have been visiting home folks the past few weeks, and Sunday last Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor gave them an auto ride to Mt. Clemens. Good ride. Good trip.

Mr. Fred Buncher has gone back to his home in Indiana. And just, like his big, generous heart, he left the post office a big, fat, generous box of the finest chocolates. Thanks to the veteran.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Deer have been making others happy. Guests of their home, beginning Sunday, The Misses Pearl and Winnie Jolliffe, of Plymouth; Miss Leda Riley, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCulley and daughters Viola and Olive, of Northville; and Dr. and Mrs. George Deer, of Royal Oak.

Postmaster Charles Allen has been directed to report to the Washington officials when all the conditions have properly been met, and as soon as this is done action will be taken toward the establishment of a two-carrier service. He says a favorable report probably will be sent from Royal Oak by the end of next week.

Miss Bertha Kerr, of Birmingham, is doing the stenographic work in the office of Tomlinson & Company, Detroit. Miss Kerr has considerable ability, and we expect to find her numbered among our many successful stenographers.

Mrs. J. Schotanus, recently made official nurse for the Royal Oak public schools, has reported that out of 600 children whom she has examined 237 were defective. Wonder how our pupils would fare under just such an examination?

Miss Esther Kudner, of Pontiac, is now employed by John McMitchell & Company, architects and builders, Birmingham. Miss Kudner was among the many good stenographers sent to Fraser, of the Studebaker Corporation at Detroit, and they regretted very much to have her leave.

Construction of the mile and one-third of concrete road south of Pontiac, on the Woodward avenue road, will be started this week. Martin De Goppler, county engineer, stated that work had been held up waiting on the grading gang, who are working south of Birmingham.

The Detroit United Railway is reconstructing its tracks through the thriving town of Birmingham, on the Pontiac division. At the same time the municipality, through its aggressive council, is paving the balance of the street.—Detroit Electric Railway Service.

Miss Winifred Eastman, of Harmon street, announces the opening of the Eastman elementary school and kindergarten, which covers kindergarten work and first and second grades. Miss Eastman has had 13 years' experience in teaching—ten years in the Farrow school, Detroit, and three years in Bloomfield Hills seminary. Her location is not yet settled, but will be in Detroit in the North Woodward district. Terms reasonable. Among parents of former pupils we notice Mrs. W. W. Collier, Mrs. John Endicott, Mrs. Henry Ford, Mrs. Roy Macauley, Mrs. A. E. Quarton, Mrs. J. D. Vhay, and many others. Miss Eastman's references and letters covering her long experience serve to carry the correct and true impression of her work.

50 cents and this notice together will pay for the Eccentric one year to any new subscriber. Old readers can have same generous benefit by paying all arrearages and 50c, then we set them ahead one year. Offer is good until September 15, 1915.

Lost, Saturday, August 28, on street car, or near Oakland and Woodward Avenues, Black Hand Bag. Reward if left at Eccentric office.—Adv.

Mrs. Mary Taber is visiting relatives in Ohio.

Miss Carolyn Hayes has returned home from a Monroe visit.

Miss Addie Seeley, of Lake Orion, was the guest of Mrs. C. Learn Saturday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Randall is having a happy time among relatives at Owosso and Fowlerville.

Herbert Bossett has a broken collar bone, caused by being squeezed in a stall by a horse.

After a few weeks' visit to relatives at Morenci, Miss Esther Wakefield is back home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Seeley Peck are happy entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fink, of Port Huron.

Don't forget that Saturday, September 4, is the last day that you can get a cut-rate admission to the big fair.

It is impossible to pass the Deer shaving parlor, owing to the mammoth new pole which beckons you in to get smoothed up.

"Happy Hudsonites!" M. Levinson reports the sale of a Hudson auto to each of these pleased purchasers: W. E. Harris and M. J. Withee.

R. C. Haskins, administrator, will sell the household goods of the late E. H. Higby at 208 Willits street, at 1 p. m., Saturday, September 4. M. H. Blunt, auctioneer.

After several pleasant weeks touring in California, seeing many other sights besides the exposition, Mrs. William Davenport and daughter Lehla have returned safely home.

Mrs. A. V. Avery, of Pontiac, spent Friday with Mrs. Cornelia Smith, of Hamilton avenue. Mrs. Avery is collecting biographs of the early pioneers of Oakland county for a state history.

Rush Haskins, administrator of the estate of E. H. Higby, deceased, will sell at auction, September 4, all household goods and everything to close up the estate. M. H. Blunt will do the arguing.

For seven weeks Mrs. Sarah J. Carter has been visiting away up north. At Saginaw she visited her nephew's family, the Morgans, and at Flint the Armstrongs. Her first question on her return home was "Did it rain here?"

Just 25 years ago this week there were 19 water takers using water from the municipal-owned water works system. Twenty-five years ago we note the waterworks were just started. Read all about it in another column. It is very interesting to know who was the first applicant for water. Of course it was Mattie Baldwin.

Labor Day at Lake Orion lasts from September 4 to 6, inclusive. See advertisement in another column. Saturday, circus night; a night of surprises, red fire, free souvenirs. Sunday, Clerk's Ladies' Band and Logan's Lansing Orchestra. Monday —Labor Day—grand carnival; forty attractions; a great collection of clean amusements. Something doing all the time. Come and see.

Miss Laura Blake, 16 years old, of Harmon street, was taken to Grace hospital, suffering from the injured back, the result of being knocked down by an automobile driven by Miss E. A. Buchanan, Fourteenth avenue, Detroit, Friday evening. Miss Buchanan was trying to avoid colliding with another machine at Woodward avenue and Marston court, and her machine struck the curb, running up on the sidewalk and knocking Miss Blake down.

From the far west, even from San Jose, Calif., comes from our old friend J. W. Rainey, and once upon a time vocal instructor, a beautiful portfolio of views of the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco. There is just one view we would like to take out in California, and that is to see Joe Rainey, the sender. After listening to Lafe Bostwick's tale of his visit to Joe, we are bound to do so some time or other, see if we don't.

Funeral services for Lester Edwin Waite, of the firm of Waite Bros., Pontiac, whose death occurred Thursday in Detroit, were held from the home on Norton avenue at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and were largely attended. Rev. E. M. Traver officiated. Employes of the Waite store were the active pall bearers, while among the honorary pall bearers were a number of neighbors and intimate friends of Mr. Waite. The burial in Oak Hill was made privately and was witnessed only by the immediate relatives and near friends.

It has been learned here that the proposed free delivery of mail in Royal Oak will be largely in the nature of an experiment, and will not be made permanent unless conditions warrant. The decision of the post office department to make the change is based on a survey of the village made some time ago by Inspector Fraser, of Detroit. Under the plan outlined by him the village will be divided into two districts to be covered twice daily by two carriers to be appointed later. The sections allotted to each carrier will be the parts of town north and south of Fourth street.

Cornelia Smith, who is 92 years of age, and the oldest resident of Birmingham, attended the pioneer picnic at Orchard Lake Wednesday. George E. Daines took Mrs. Smith and her friend, Mrs. George McStay, who is 75 years old, to the lake in his automobile. Mrs. Smith is unusually intelligent and active, and has a wonderful memory. She recently finished a white dress which she made all by hand for her great-granddaughter, Miss Fae Jarvis, who lives with her. The dress has 32 yards of fine white lace sewed on by hand. Mrs. Smith, who was Cornelia Hunter, was born in Southfield, and in 1823, when she was five years old, her father, Daniel Hunter, who had a government position, moved his family with a team of horses and a wagon to Fort Dearborn, now Chicago, where he was sent to deal with the Indians. At that time Cornelia was the first white child in Fort Dearborn. She had lived for eight years in Fort Dearborn when her father moved the family to Birmingham, on Hamilton avenue, where she now lives. This house was given to her by her parents for a wedding present, and was at that time the first brick house in Birmingham. It is still an attractive old place.

Mrs. Clark, North Woodward, has a lot of chickens to sell.

Rev. C. E. Wakefield is again on duty after his August vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Parry are visiting relatives at Port Huron.

Lansing, Mich., receives a visit this week from Miss Katherine Hartwell.

Masters Earl and Hugh Milton visited their cousin, Elmer Cook, near Woodward, Sunday.

Mr. J. Fleming, of Detroit, was a caller at the home of Mrs. T. Edwards and family last week.

Mr. C. Spearing, of Canada, was a visitor of Mrs. T. Edwards and family on Woodward one day last week.

The Epworth League boys are preparing for a Big "B" time at the Beckner house on Friday evening, September 10.

The time approacheth when you will have to set the clock back one hour and forget it—till the fool season of next year.

The young ladies of the M. E. church organized a Queen Esther circle Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Mary Utter.

When Pontiac citizens get drunk they put 'em on the road wagon, says the Press-Gazette. Is that a new relative of the water wagon?

The laborer who has to work 10 hours per day will soon have to extend his hours to 7 p. m. (by the clock) in order to get in full time during daylight.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church will serve a dinner from 5:30 to 7:30 this (Friday) evening. Those attending are expected to remain for a social hour.

If the rat bounty continues at 10 cents each, Buster Parks is going to be a valuable dog. He averages from three to five a day from the oat bin in his owner's barn.

A new motor for The Eccentric has gone astray—probably headed for the sunny south. If not lynched down there it will be hanged when it gets back to Birmingham.

Royal Oak is to have free mail delivery in that booming village. Eh? Surest bet you know. We're only waiting for a few details to be fixed up. Huh! The very idea.

Very few people seem to know that a parcel post package is an unmailable article unless the name of the sender, preceded by the word "from," is on the upper left hand cover of the parcel. It is a fact.

The Webber children, on Purdy street, have for a doll Charlie Chaplin, as big as a four-year-old child. He has his hat, cane and cute little tash all dressed up in neat jacket, big pants and feet turning way out. Come on, Charlie.

For about 30 days last spring Tom Thurlby put a blanket on his corn patch and thereby got a big lead on his neighbors. But if this weather continues he will have to hunt up that blanket before his crop is ready for the harvest.

In a recent speech at the pioneers' picnic, Judge J. S. Stockwell said the farmer's face was the finest thing in the world to him—or words to that effect. Must be the judge is mending his specs.

Slow work on paving on both streets in Birmingham seems to be the rule. Maple avenue west, which we expected to see concreted clear to Woodward, seems to be at rest. Work on Woodward is going along, but it seems the winter will catch us all not finished.

Harry Dixon, 18 years old, of Flint, and William Evans, 17, of Pontiac, arrested on a charge of being intoxicated while passengers on a D. U. R. car, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, but were let off on suspended sentence by signing the pledge for one year.

Royal Oak has free delivery of mail to its citizens. Here's a pointer. Here is a chance for the Citizens League to do something worth while. Pass around a petition to the powers at Washington asking for that privilege. We need it. Our streets are named, our houses numbered. Go for it.

Robert Hancock, of Bloomfield Hills, has bought the G. E. Fisher farm in Troy township, near Big Beaver. It comprises a little over 100 acres with ample buildings and every convenience. The farm has an established reputation for the biggest and best crops in the township. The sale was made by Whitehead & Standart Co., of this place.

Attention, R. A. M., 93, Birmingham, Mich. Regular convocation of Birmingham chapter, No. 93, R. A. M., on Monday evening, September 6, 1915. The hot summer months are wholly expected are now swallowed up by the anticipation of what is to come with frost and snow. Let every officer be in his station and the new recruits be instructed by competent drill masters.—L. M. Randall, H. P.; J. A. Bigelow, secretary.

Before we to read all of 25 years ago. The article headed "Water" is particularly interesting, showing that just 25 years ago now our water was started pumping and never for an hour since has ever stopped. Our water today is better than then. Pure spring water, right from old Mother Earth, from a depth that guarantees purity—is something we are proud of and more. Read the first water takers in the article alluded to.

Thirty-four years ago we began plugging and booming Birmingham, for a home town, and we never let up an issue since. See in "Twenty-five years ago" what we said about speaking well of Birmingham. Hardly an issue of The Eccentric but all those years but what has had more or less good words for the good of "Birmingham, the Pride of Oakland." We are continue until our end comes. We dare not predict, but we are now very near on the brink of a vast growth in and all around our village. Pierce street is coming into its own again. Automobiles come to Decker's corners, run out west at that point, and come into Birmingham on Pierce street. When they bump up against the concrete curb and rock rocks across the street from Shain's to the post office the wise ones now turn around, go through the alley of Erwin & Smith to Woodward avenue and on again to Pontiac. It is too bad that Pierce street had to receive its top dressing of oil pulp from Woodward avenue. It ruined a fine street. Mrs. John Johnson, 373 north Maple avenue west, lies in critical condition at St. Mary's hospital as a result of being run down by a street car on Woodward avenue in Detroit, shortly before noon last Saturday. She was injured about the head, left shoulder and back, and is suffering greatly from shock, and because of her advanced age the surgeons do not think she will recover. Mrs. Johnson had just arrived in Detroit on a suburban car, and after she alighted she started to walk around the rear of the car and got in front of a northbound car. She was in a semi-conscious condition when taken to the hospital.
