Why Will You Buy a Talking Machine When You Can Get a New Edison?

1. A talking machine simply reproduces something that sounds like the original, but with a lot of harsh, strident, tiresome sounds added. The Edison recreates the music exactly as the original, with no foreign sounds to detract from its enjoyment.

2. As the Edison re-creates music exactly, many public tests are given where an artist accompanies her own voice on eign sounds and noises.

4. The Edison has no tone—it simply re-creates what it "hears," with nothing added to "taken away from. Different makers advertise the "tene" of their taking machines. Do you think their machines can add to the beauty of tone of a great Prima Donna? I don't. It can assily detract from it, and does very much.

5. You will never tire of an Edison more than you would of an Opera. The "tone" of a talking machine, with its noises and strident sounds, soon becomes very tiresome.

very tiresome.

6. The Edison is a laboratory product—a secret known to but few of Edison's associates in his great laboratories. It is patented. A talking machine is simply a mechanical contrivance that anyone is at liberty to assemble.

7. There are no needles to change on an Edison. Its diamond point is good for 40 to 50 years. With a talking machine you have to keep changing needles, with the chance of being out of needles when you want them most.

8. An Edison Record is practically unbreakable. Talking-machine records are brittle and easily broken.

9. An Edison Record has 150 lines to the inch, and talking-machine records have only 78; therefore a 10-inch Edison Record plays about twice as long as a talking-machine record.
