A woman who had lived through the meagre periods of European history, the Dowager Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, died the other day of the advanced age of ninety-seven. She was a granddaughter of George III of England. Born in 1819, she was married at twenty-four, and outlived both her husband and her son, who were successfully grand dukes of Mecklenburg-Strelitz.—Outlook.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

"THERE ARE NO BAD BOYS"

There are no bad boys. We make this statement confidently knowing that it will be indorsed by educators and all those who have spent their lives in working on the boy problem. We will defend it in spite of all the broken windows, stolen oranges and canned goods in Christendom.

There are weak boys, boys who lack resourcefulness, boys who ideas of right and wrong are distorted, but there never was a boy who did not naturally—consciously or unconsciously—do the things which he believed to be right.

The trouble comes when parents, teachers and the others who are responsible for the youngster's development fail to fill his time with useful activity. The force of nature must operate, we cannot stop them while we take our afternoon nap. The wind must blow, the water must flow, and the boys' brain and muscles must work. We put a windmill in the path of the wind and it draws water as joyously as it upsets the chairs on the veranda and whips the family wash from the line. We put a water-wheel in the stream and it grinds the grain with the energy which it would otherwise devote to its usual work of banks and peeling out the trees. These things we know, yet too often permit youthful energy, our most valuable asset, to run riot. We never attempt to dam it and then complain because it flows over and does damage.

The program of the Boy Scouts of America is the drill in the stream of boyhood. It provides something useful for every boy to do every minute. Knot-tying, first-aid and bandaging, signaling, trail-making, tent-making, building and extinguishing, camp cooking, swimming, orienting and saving money, hiking, map-making and trail reading, practical study of flowers, plants and trees, earth and sky are included in the Scout's program for the first year. After that a much broader field is open. In fact, the Scout's work is in every known trade and profession.

A boy's first life moment is the starting point of whatever trouble he makes in the world. It is also the opportunity of the man who is wise enough and patriotic enough to turn natural energy into constructive channels. Already in our schools, we are directing the activities of 150,000 boys in this country, and the movement is only five years old.—The printed form "Scouting".

ANY OLD CANES?

The American Girls' Aid society, which has devoted itself to the collection of clothing and other materials for French victims of the European war, asks that the Scouts endeavor to collect canes to be used by the maimed and crippled soldiers. There is a big demand for canes just at the present time, and there are undoubtedly thousands of canes in the United States which are not in use. If the Scout would collect these and forward them to the headquarters of the American Girls' Aid, 233 Fifth Avenue, New York city, they will be appreciated. It is suggested also that the Scouts make canes. On their hikes into the woods and country places they often come across materials for canes and can develop artistic ability in making up this material in serviceable form.

SCOUTS HELP U-BOAT VICTIMS

When the German submarine U-5 sank ships of Nantucket, the survivors were brought into Newport, R. I., the night.

Troop Five of Newport, connected with Cloyne House School, immediately transformed its camp into a hospital for the refugees.
In one hour 25 beds were ready, a doctor and nurse from the navy in attendance, and arrangements made for the Scouts to do the washing and cooking for the crew. The outfit is now registered with the Red Cross.

Last fall this troop distinguished itself during coast patrol practice, by communicating with an unknown troop three and a half miles distant. International Morse with a flag was used.

HOW SCOUTS CAN HELP NATION

Organize your troop into gardening patrols and strive to excel. A full troop means four Leaders' Reserve Corps.
Organize a demonstration patrol to demonstrate right methods of planting, canning and preserving foods. Offer services to schools, country fairs, etc. for such demonstrations. Plant a garden today, otherwise there will be nothing to can. Can this suggestion until you get Mother S. O. S. call to your camp.

Plan a meeting for parents and all interested. Have the mayor or high official speak, also experts on gardening. Distribute literature to every home, to every school, to every farm or withly reasonable distance. Help make two shades grow in place of one.
