Christianity is at war with autocracy. The United States, under the guidance of President Wilson, did not enter this struggle against Germany in the spirit of "me and Gott," but that America cannot be used only as a pretext of humanity, which means God's side. Denounced as a traitor to the cause of this struggle against Germany in this village contact. Protestant and Catholic alike are ranged with unbroken front against Kaiserism. Leaders of all denominations have rallied to the cause, and in this village are engaged every one to "do his bit." "Not the bit he can do easily and without sacrifice," said Bishop William Fraser McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal Church, "but the largest bit he can do. It is not the bit he can do or to co-operate at home with the government in the furnishing of bonds and the conservation of food." This is the spirit expressed by all the foremost thinkers of our churches, in their full share of any task which the President sets before us, and especially at this time to buy Liberty bonds, not for dollars for ourselves, but for democracy and the liberty of all peoples.
