FORCE OF GERMAN DRIVE APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN BROKEN

SOME GAINS OF GROUND MADE BUT ATTEMPTS TO TAKE IMPORTANT RAILROAD CENTERS FAILS.

STIFF RESISTANCE BY BRITISH CHECKS FOE'S ONWARD RUSH

Enemy Pressure Continues With Great Weight Along Ypres Salient—Americans Repulse Raid in Toul Sector.

London—Seven days after the Germans launched their gigantic assault against the British lines between Lens and Ypres, the momentum of their attack has been broken and the waves of the Teutonic forces are receding before the rock of the British defense.

While the Germans have made gains of ground and have driven a wedge into the Allied lines to a considerable depth, they seem to have failed in their attempt to break through or take important railroad junctions.

Neuve Eglise, on the extreme southwestern spur of Messines ridge, was taken by the Germans, on April 15, after a struggle which will go into history as one of the greatest of the past week.

The British, however, have not retired far and it is probable they at once will organize a counter-attack to force the Germans out of the town, which if held, might be a "kicking off" point for an attack to outflank and make untenable Messines ridge, key to British positions about Ypres.

Bailleul and Wulverghem, between Neuve Eglise and Merville, also have been scenes of hard fighting, but except for Neuve Eglise, the northern side of the salient has stood firm. On the southern side of the salient, according to Berlin, fierce struggles have been fought.

Stiff Resistance Checks Drive.

London—Stiffening British reisstance has checked the German drive southward from the Lys toward Bethune and westward from Merville toward Hazebrouck, near the Belgian border, according to April 15 dispatches.

Enemy pressure is continuing with great weight toward the north and desperate battling is in progress along the line running southwest from Messines to the south of Bailleul.

The whole Ypres salient and the continued safety of the channel ports are pointed to by observers abroad as at stake in the fighting now under way. Hazebrouck and Bailleul, important railway centers, are vital feeding points for Messines ridge and the Ypres position in general.

Americans Repulse Foe Raid.

With the American Army in France—Preceded by an intense bombardment of high explosives and poisoned gas shells, picked troops from four German companies hurled themselves against the American positions on the right bank of the Meuse north of St. Mihiel early Sunday, but were completely repulsed after terrific hand-to-hand fighting.

Two German fighting planes were shot down inside the American lines by Lieutenants A. S. Winslow, Chicago, and Douglas Campbell, California. Each men downed one machine. Both the enemy aviators were made prisoner.

It is believed Lieutenant Campbell is the first graduate of a strictly American school to bring down an enemy machine.

Britain's Army at Bay.

London—Great Britain's armies stand at bay in France and Flanders. After three weeks of a combat which has eclipsed anything that has raged during three and a half years of warfare, Field Marshal Haig has issued a command to his men to hold their ground at whatever cost, and fight with the knowledge their blows are struck "for the safety of their homes and the freedom of mankind."

The end of the first phase of this giant struggle now may be considered as passed. "There must be no retirement," is Haig's admonition, which adds the British are now fighting "with their backs to the walls."

An order issued by the field marshal contains another sentence which may be pregnant with significance. "The French army is moving rapidly and in great force to our support," he said, and this is the first official intimation the Allies are ready to strike back at the German invaders.

Custer General Is Demoted.

Camp Custer—Following out a policy announced by the war department some months ago, Brigadier General B. C. Morse, commanding the One Hundred and Sixty-ninth brigade at Camp Custer, considered one of the most efficient officers in the organization, has been reduced to the rank of colonel. The position of the war department followed a request that no elderly men be sent to France in high commands. General Morse is about 60 years old.

High Officers Must Drill.

Camp Custer—Pursuant to a division order, captains, majors, colonels and even brigadier-generals must spend a large part of their day hereafter in the field with the enlisted men, though the actual drilling is still conducted largely by the lieutenants. The intent of the order is to keep the line officers in closer touch with their men. Every indication is that the division is being prepared for a trip overseas this summer and the arrival of more men is anxiously awaited.

WHERE FARMING IS PROFITABLE

The Future of Great Possibilities.

Some idea of the great wealth that the Western Canada farmer had in view a few years ago is now being realized. The amount received from the sale of wheat, oats, barley, flax and rye in 1917 was $270,000,000, while the sales of live stock at Winnipeg alone netted $40,000,000 additional. Of this sum hogs alone gave over eleven million dollars. The increases at Calgary and Edmonton were over 6½ million dollars.

This money, so easily earned, is being spent in improvements in farm property, purchasing additional land, buying tractors, automobiles, and improving home conditions, providing electric light, steam heat, new furniture, pianos, buying Victory bonds, paying up old debts, etc.

Over five hundred tractors were sold in Southern Alberta in 1917. One implement agent reports that the increase in his business in 1917, over that of 1916, was equal to the total business in 1915. It is the same story all over the country. And it is not this evidence alone which proves the advancement and growth of the three prairie provinces, but the large increase in the number of settlers; the improvement in the extent of the cultivated areas and agricultural production; the increase in value of which over 1916 was $77,000,000.

This wonderful progress that has been made in agriculture in Western Canada is but the beginning which marks the future of the greatest agricultural country on the continent, showing a future of great possibilities. There are millions of acres yet untilled, and of land as good as any of that which is now giving its owners a return of from twenty to thirty dollars an acre, figures that in many cases represent the cost of the land, with all cultivation oasis included. It is true that the cost of production has increased during the past few years, but the price of the product has also increased to a figure which leaves a large balance to the credit of the producer.

	1913 Price	1917 Price
FARM NEEDS.	in bus.	in bus.
Machinery—	wheat	wheat
Self binder	100	100
Mower	70	38

Percentage increases are shown too in another way, leading to the same conclusion, from consultation of the Department of Labor's review of prices. Taking 100 as the index number of normal production in the decade from 1890 to 1900, the increases in prices of farm products have slightly outdistanced the increases in his needs.

Papa's Mission.

Little Carrie's papa was a fire insurance adjuster and made frequent trips out through the state adjusting losses. One of the neighbors, meeting Carrie in front of her house one day, asked how she was and how her papa was.

"Oh, I'm well, and so's my papa," she replied. "But he's gone away."

"Gone away?" the neighbor repeated. "Why, where's your papa gone?"

"Gone to 'Vanville to digest a loss."

DUTY OF ALL TO BUY BONDS

(By ROLAND G. USHER of the Vigilantes.)

Put it to yourself straight now. You know perfectly well that you would feel ashamed to keep your boy out of the ranks if he wanted to go. You know perfectly well that you would probably feel ashamed before your neighbors if they knew that the boy was sticking at home. But have you ever asked yourself whether you felt ashamed that you were keeping your dollars tight in your jeans instead of lending your dollars to the war as well as your boy? If you have not got a boy you probably would feel that he ought to go if you had one. You have got some dollars, why don't you send them?

Think again; if you have sent a boy over there, don't you know for certain whether that boy will come back, God grant that he may. But he went, just the same, knowing fully just as you did that he might not come back. You gave the dearest thing you had in the world to the government freely, for the cause of democracy. You were glad to do it; you felt fine about it. You still feel that if you had it to do over again you would not do anything else. But I will wager anything you like that you have a lot of money that you can lend to the government without hurting yourself at all, and which you are hanging on to until it screams. Think of it. Those dollars will be perfectly sure to come back if you lend them to the government. The government guarantees that. Why should you therefore be so afraid to loose your clutch on them. The great risk you have already taken and did it because it was a worthy and a noble thing to do. The thing which is no risk at all and yet which is just as necessary to the war as the other, you hesitate about.

Dollars Will Come Back.

Let me suppose for a moment that you have not yet sent your boy. I will wager you have a sneaking feeling that he ought to go. He has too. In this case, I won't have to make a wager about it—you have not sent your dollars. But you hesitate to send the boy because you are afraid he may not come back, you have a perfectly explainable reason, but you have not got a good reason why you should not send your dollars. They will come back, you may be sure of it. Not only will they come back, the government will pay you interest on them in the meantime. You will lend the government your capital and will get a return on it. Far from losing anything, you will make something. Why hesitate?

Look at it from another point of view. If your boy has not gone, or if you have no son, your neighbors who have sons have sent them. Those boys are going into danger. They are going to need guns, food, artillery, ships, and airplanes, not only to enable them to do what they went over there to do—beat the Germans out of sight—but to keep them safe. If they don't have those things they certainly won't come back at all. You know perfectly well, however tight-fisted you may be, or however mean you may think yourself—and you are not half as mean as that—you would not hurt your neighbor's son just because a few dollars stood in the way. You would feel so ashamed of yourself for the rest of your life you would not be able to shave in the morning. Your neighbors' sons and your friends' sons that you have known all your life need the things your money can buy for them, and it is going to go mighty hard with them if they don't get them.

Make Your Money Help.

Now put it to yourself straight. If the thing was a little nearer to you so that you really saw your neighbor's son actually without food because you had declined to give it to him, you would not hesitate for a moment what to do. The difficulty is here, that the thing is on so large a scale that you do not realize that your failure to lend your money to the government is going to result very probably in depriving that particular boy of things he needs. You can say, if you like, there are so many millions of them that it will be some other fellow's son that will go without. I hope you won't get much comfort out of that, because it is the same old thing. You would not hurt him either if you saw him and knew he was in want; but because you don't see him, because he is somewhere in France, you forget about him and don't stop to think that he wants a thing you would not hesitate to give him if you knew him.

Why hesitate, then, to lend your dollars to the government? They are the only thing that can really do this business. They are the only thing that can put tools into the boys' hands over there to kill the Germans with. Don't hesitate any longer now. Get it straight, and go down and buy a bond and feel better about it for the rest of your life.

The Kaiser and Russian Wheat.

Reports from neutral countries tell of Germany and Austria shipping to their starving people several hundred thousand tons of Russian and Roumanian wheat. No mention is made of the price the conquering armies paid for the precious grain for the good reason that no price was paid.

Farmers here in America are getting a pretty fair price for their wheat from a government which is only asking in return that some of this money paid for it may be loaned back that more wheat may be bought.

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.
