GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

A small bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—it costs but a few cents—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp —Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this. *Adv.

Richard Butler Glaenzer, New York essayist and critic, at the Players' club:

"Poetry is delightful. But poets are so poorly paid. I know a rich man who has a beautiful golden-haired stenographer. The girl said to her employer the other day:

"'I am going to get married, sir. And I am going to marry a poet.'

"'Dear me!' said the wealthy man. 'Then you will leave us, eh?'

"'No, sir,' she replied, 'I shall not leave you, but I shall need more pay.'"

WHEAT PRICE GUARANTEES WILL REMAIN IN FORCE

Food Administration Grain Corporation Will Continue to Act As Purchasing Agency.

Judging from a considerable number of inquiries regarding purchase of the 1918 and 1919 wheat crops in view of prospects for early peace, the following statement, seems desirable, says the Farm Journal section of the U. S. Food Administration:

The president's proclamation of February 21, 1918, fixing guaranteed prices for the 1918 wheat crop, applies to wheat "harvested in the United States during the year 1918 and offered for sale before the first day of June, 1919, to such agent or employee of the United States, or other person as may be hereafter designated" at the principal primary markets specified. The Food Administration Grain Corporation was designated June 21, 1918, to purchase the 1918 wheat crop and will therefore continue to exercise that duty and obligation even though peace should be signed prior to June 1, 1919. The Food Control Act provides that termination of the act shall not affect any obligation accrued or accruing during its existence and the purchase of the 1918 wheat crop is such an obligation.

The president's proclamation of September 2, 1918, establishing guaranteed prices for the 1919 wheat crop applies to wheat harvested in the United States during 1919 and offered for sale before June 1, 1920. As in the case of the 1918 crop the wheat must be offered for sale "to such agent or employee of the United States on other person as may be hereafter designated" at any one of the principal primary markets. Up to the present date, however, the agency by which the 1919 wheat crop is to be purchased has not been designated.

Thus, although the guarantee for the 1919 wheat crop will continue until June 1, 1920, there is no present assurance it will be purchased or handled by the Food Administration Grain Corporation.

Other matters on which the public is apparently not clearly informed are the licensing of the fertilizing industry, of the farm equipment industry, and of stockyards. By presidential proclamation of Feb. 25, 1918, May 14, 1918, and June 18, 1918, respectively, supervision of these industries has been assigned exclusively to the Secretary of Agriculture. Certain reports by licensees of these industries are sent to the License Division of the Food Administration, but this is only for clerical convenience and carries no administration powers.

We believe that clear thinking, speaking and writing will be especially important during the coming days of reconstruction and we shall welcome the opportunity to aid editors in discussing agricultural matters with a substantial background of facts.

ALASKA INTENSELY PATRIOTIC

Inhabitants of Our Polar Colony Take Lead in Conserving Food.

Lansing, Dec.—Up in Alaska, patriotism is intense. They have given men to the army, oversubscribed their fourth Liberty loan, and now the housewives have reported to the Food Administration that they have been faithfully observing the requests, and have been canning every available vegetable and putting up great quantities of berries and fruits.

The vegetables that grow in that cold part of the country are the hardier kind, and those that grow quickly—potatoes, turnips, carrots, beets and rutabagas.

There are no better fisheries than those in Alaska. They are famous for cod, halibut, salmon, herring and whitefish. They will provide our markets with much of the fish that we shall have to eat this year, if we are going to conserve enough meat to send abroad the two million six hundred thousand tons that are necessary to feed our army and navy and the Allies.

UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION

After the War

180,000,000 people in hungry lands are looking to America for food which no other people can give them.

In their misery and famine, Belgium, Northern France, Central Russia, Servia, Montenegro, Poland, Rumania and Armenia will cry to us.

From us food must come. We must save that we may give.

It is America's mission, our opportunity to serve.

America seeks the good will of all nations, as Germany aimed to be feared of all.

The foundations of the new world to be built after the war will be laid in good will among men.

The state makes treaties; good will gives them validity.

Just and lasting peace will be secured in the friendship of all who sit at the common table.

The shortest, surest way to good will is through sharing food with those whose need is greater than ours.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WORLD

Whale meat is becoming better known. One thousand pounds were recently shipped from the Pacific coast to Boston. A whaling company in Victoria, B. C., expects to pack between thirty and fifty thousand cases of whale meat this season at their cannery at Kyoquot. Whales yield from three to twelve tons of prime meat. This is always used for canning or freezing.

Whale meat is not fish. The whale is a red-blooded animal. The meat is like corned beef or mutton. It is highly nutritious. It contains thirty per cent of protein, the principal tissue forming material of food, as compared with fourteen per cent in pork or mutton.

Another Alaskan product that has been brought forward is reindeer meat. It is tender and has the taste of wild game, but is as good as beef. The reindeer weighs on an average of 150 pounds when dressed. It has been estimated that there are more than 100,000 reindeer in Alaska, and that herds aggregating 18,000 have been purchased and will be marketed.

One of the advantages of reindeer is that it costs nothing to feed them. Prices of feed grains for cattle are high now. Reindeer live on lichens, which would otherwise be valueless. The only expense for maintenance of reindeer is for the labor of herding them, and the cost of slaughtering them.

FOOD ALONE WILL BLOCK ANARCHY AND MAKE DEMOCRACY

Anarchy in Europe means chaos here. Today, what was Russia is a bit of internationalism—so-called Bolshevism. What was Russia is a vast country and population which has lost all social institutions—marriage along with the rest. Every store is closed because the Bourgeoise are the storekeepers, and in Russia no one may live except he be a day laborer. The lowest strata of intelligence is on top.

You will say that America is in no such danger; America is an educated country. The worst Bolshevik today is the educated Russian, gone mad with the dream of a perfect world in which there is to be no class, no national lines, no flag but the red flag, and every man a brother the world over, and nobody in any circumstances of life better than his neighbors. Hunger did it.

In Switzerland last week a group of the best educated, best skilled mechanics, wrecked the factory where they worked because they did not get food instantly upon the declaration of the armistice. Holland is on the verge of a strike; and Switzerland and Holland have always been regarded as stable and orderly. Germany, that we thought bound down by iron discipline until, as Bismarck said, "A revolution was impossible, because it was forbidden," has split in one week into twenty-four separate national and racial units, no one of which will let anything go into its neighbor.

America can advance a selfish motive for its food program of world relief if necessary. We cannot collect indemnity from an anarchistic Germany. We cannot afford to let the red flag which paraded down Fifth Avenue, New York, last week get too strong a hold. And we have got other motives.

America has been the melting pot of the world, and during the last eighteen months we have proved that we are a fused people. Italians, Armenians, Serbs, Poles, Greeks, Irish, Germans, Austrians and Hungarians volunteered for service in our army. They believed in us. They wanted to be called Americans. My friends, are they going to stay proud of Americanism if we sit back and let their kin at home starve?

Finally, we have won the war, but we can yet lose it. We have fought the war because we believe in our institutions, because we believe in the democratic form of government, and because we believe in humanity. We said we fought to make the world safe for democracy. We will not have done that until the democratic governments they are attempting in Europe are assured—until the red government is stamped out.

With food, which alone can block anarchy, we are supporting the foundations of the new system of government. Of what avail to say to these people that we have made them free if it is only to say to that freedom "Hail" and then "Farewell." Our world leadership is at stake.

In the old days of ancient Rome, when war was not only business but pleasure, the greatest joy was the sight of the bold gladiators as they came for the combat in the arena with the cry, "We who are about to die salute you." At the conclusion of the combat the vanquished depended for the verdict of the people given by their thumbs up or thumbs down.

Today, when we hate war and all the things it brings, except the idealism that comes with it; today when we have almost felt the wreckage of our civilization in the passions of the struggle, the peoples of Europe now come to us and say, "We who are about to die salute you. Have you made us free to let us starve? And upon the answer depends, not only their lives but the future life of our nation and of our institutions and of those ideals for which we have so proudly fought.

RED CROSS IN PEACE

WORK FOR THE ORGANIZATION NOW THAT WAR MAY BE CONSIDERED ENDED.

WHOLE NATION ASKED TO AID

Chairman Davison Announces That Week Preceding Christmas Will Be Given to Efforts to Extend the Order's Membership to All Citizens.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Future plans of the American Red Cross, under which the great organization built up during the war will be devoted to peace-time relief work not only in the United States but throughout the world, was outlined in a statement issued tonight by Henry P. Davison, chairman of the war council.

"The whole American people will be invited in the week preceding Christmas to enroll as members of the Red Cross. It is confidently believed there need be no further campaigns for Red Cross funds, but instead the annual roll call will constitute the foundation of the Red Cross. The people should, therefore, know as definitely as possible the plans of this their national humanitarian society.

"Wherever our soldiers and sailors may be, the Red Cross will stay with them until they are demobilized. Nothing which we may do will be left undone, either for the men in the war zone, for those returning, for those in the camps and hospitals or for their families at home to whom will continue to be devoted the ministrations of the Red Cross home service. In this latter effort 50,000 trained Red Cross workers are now engaged at 2,500 different places throughout the land.

"The problems of reconstruction, involving feeding and caring for the distressed civilian populations of Europe, are of such magnitude that necessarily they must be met very largely by the governments of our allies, with whom our own government will co-operate.

"The war program of the American Red Cross will thus steadily and rapidly merge itself into a peace program. While the plans in this direction cannot be formulated specifically, in advance of the general relief program of the allied governments, the American Red Cross is nevertheless planning to develop its permanent organization in this country upon a scale never before contemplated in time of peace. The commissions which are now conducting the activities of the American Red Cross in foreign countries, as well as the temporary war organization in this country, will as a matter of course ultimately merge their energies with those of the permanent organization of the Red Cross.

"There may be, therefore, perfect confidence that the peace activities of the Red Cross will be conducted under able and inspiring leadership. The chapters will maintain their organizations upon a scale adequate to the new demands to be made upon them. Local committees will indeed appreciate more and more the value of having in their midst strong and efficient Red Cross chapters. The divisional organizations, with honorary and permanent staffs, will be maintained—always ready for service; and national headquarters will have a large and efficient personnel to direct the activities of the organization as a whole.

"For the completion of its war work and for the institution of its peace program, the Red Cross is fortunately in a healthy financial condition. Abundant occasion for the use of large funds of money and great quantities of garments and other supplies will continue to arise, but it is believed that there will be no further need for intensive campaigns for funds. The work of supplementing governmental activities, which the Red Cross will be called upon to do in all parts of the world, will be upon a great scale but it will call for human service rather than for large expenditures.

"What the American Red Cross needs now is not so much contribution of money, as the continued devotion and loyalty of its members. This is peculiarly true at this moment of transition from war to peace. Annual membership involves the payment of only one dollar. The moneys thus received not only defray all the administrative expenses of the organization, but leave a substantial balance, which together with all funds subscribed directly for relief, are devoted solely to that purpose. The roll call of the nation is thus to be called at Christmas time, that through enrollment in their Red Cross the American people may send a message to our soldiers still overseas and to the peoples of the world that we are not only merely content with seeing our arms united with our allies in victory, but that our abiding purpose is that the love, the sympathy and the intelligence of all America shall be rededicated to the permanent service of mankind."

In the salient of Ypres there are not less than one hundred thousand graves of allied soldiers, sometimes marked by plain wooden crosses, sometimes obliterated by the debris of ruined trenches, sometimes hidden in corners of fields. The ground is forever England; it is also forever France.
