

The United States Government

Needs, and needs badly, a great number of stenographers and typists, both men and women, for service in the Departments at Washington. The situation in Federal offices outside of Washington is scarcely less urgent. The supply of qualified persons on the Commission's list for this class of work is not equal to the demand.

"Students just starting a course of study may be informed that there is now practically no limit to the number of stenographers and typists that the Government needs. There is no present prospect that the demand will be materially less at an early
