Charles Jones, contractor, builder and all round booster, is finishing his 53d house in Birmingham. The last three are now under construction in Brookside Park. This house we now tell you of is in the most unique location imaginable. You might find a counterpart in Palm Beach, where one can auto right in the basement double garage. The second floor is on a level with the surface and no one but Jones and the lot-buyer, Mr. Whitman would or could conceive and build such an original and beautiful home. This pretty home is a 9-room home with all modern conveniences, a breakfast nook, a sun parlor and "sleeping porch." Can you beat it? N. B. A $2500 view can be enjoyed from every side of this new home.

The pupils of Mrs. Grace Stewart Godfrey gave a final recital of the season, Friday evening, June 14 at the Elk's temple. The entertainment was of a patriotic character and the proceeds are for the benefit of two war charities. Mrs. Godfrey has been teaching the new method of expression with marked success since she came from New York in October. Her pupils certainly do her much credit and also recommend very highly her method of instruction, of teaching one "How to talk on his feet" as Mrs. Godfrey cleverly put it in her introductory speech. The orchestra, composed of youthful participants were generous with their music and played well. Two short plays were given and much appreciated and one "The Man" was well dramatized by Mrs. Godfrey. Several individual readings —character sketches and costume readings were given some by very young children—all of which were very well chosen and exceptionally well rendered. Altogether it was a very attractive and pleasing entertainment with the fine setting the beautiful auditorium of the Temple gave for it all. The Birmingham people were charmed and fully repaid for the trip.

I. N. Baker now-a-days is a busy man making field boulder fire-places in the new homes now under construction for Chas. E. Jones all in Brookside Park. Isaac N., is the man who knows how, and then does it.

Garry Terwilliger is a rival to Ike Newton and a few others. Wonder if Isaac ever cast on the Sabbath Day? Very recently the subject of this little sketch was casting round with a minnow, and lo, he was nearly jerked into the water and that which nearly watered Garry was a pickerel which after a hard laboring and anxious fight was landed and weighed 2# 1-2 pounds and measured 38 1-2 inches long. Friend Samuel C. Mills was on hand with his scales to measure the monster. Garry says, sez he, "Your blamed old scales wont weigh this fish." Wont they" sez Sam, "You hook him on here and push down while I hold the scales and will soon see." Both did, and the scale hook was pulled from its socket and rumored as the Hon. Samuel said in a solemn tone of voice, "Well I'll be got durned."

We note with considerable satisfaction that the Temple Theatre, Hirt Ingham's one and only public amusement place, under the management of C. M. Jones, is fast approaching the highest standard as compared to the best amusement places in Detroit and Pontiac, and in fact, the pictures are now under the screen much better than in the average high class play house. This is due to the fact that Mr. Jones is an expert with a moving picture machine and operates his own machines. Mr. Jones is also a very good judge of pictures and has has had a wide experience. He is therefore qualified to look after the best interests of people in this line and the public can rest assured that nothing will be shown detrimental to the morals of the young people of our vicinity. The moving picture shows of this country are recognized as being next to the press, the greatest educating force we have and they are patronized by practically everybody. A lecture on any current subject is now emphasized by the picture screen, and people in all walks of life are turning to this method more and more when it is desired to reach a large number of people with an important message. Schools and colleges the world over are now equipped with moving picture outfits and they are said to be a very valuable part of their equipment. With these facts in view, we are very glad to express our appreciation of the good work the Temple Theatre is doing. Before this paper goes to press many of you will have seen one of the greatest pictures of the time, The Beast of Berlin, shown here in Birmingham, and Manager announces that on Friday, June 28, he will present to the public Ambassador Girard's "My Four Years in Germany" and on Wednesday, June 26, he will present the great movie picture and "Liberty." These things show enterprise of the order you would not expect to find in so small a town. However Mr. Jones has shown us that he intends making the Temple Theatre worthy of our beautiful village. Last week he presented some high class and expensive pictures, and closed the week with the best attendance ever shown, giving away two fine prizes to the holders of tickets used during the week. Mrs. Charles Thornton won an elegant hammock and Mrs. A. Seager a beautiful aluminum roaster. In addition to the excellent pictures shown, the patrons were entertained with some very good music and songs by the little daughter of our Policeman Baker, and little Master R. G. Root of Pontiac. Mr. Baker is a fine musician and we understand that he is going to be heard from in a decided manner at the Temple, as the music is to be brought up to a high degree of excellence. Saturday the Martial Band of the "Boys of '61" gave a concert in front of the theatre and we congratulate the management for giving the G. A. R. boys this chance to again awake the echoes with fife and drum. All in all we wish Mr. Jones success, and we congratulate the people of the vicinity on the chance that gave us such a manager for a public amusement place.

Have you noticed the painting of the dear old lady knitting now on display in the window of the Birmingham Hardware. For artistic merit it can be said truthfully that it stands "A 1". Mark Halsey, former treasurer of Royal Oak township was placed on trial Monday in circuit court at Pontiac, on an embezzlement charge. Mrs. C. E. Dewar, of Woodland Villa, wishes to thank the fire laddies for their prompt answer to her call for help. Sunday eve a passer by thought he saw smoke issuing from the roof of this beautiful home. Notifying the inmates it was decided to send in an alarm. The did. The boys came in double quick time. Made an examination and pronounced "No cause for action." As all seemed to see what looked like a goodly volume of steam or smoke coming through the roof, it seems some mystery. Whatever in the world did cause it?

For the first time in its history, the Michigan State Fair will, this year, include a registered dog show, licensed by the American Kennel Club, and the dogs entered for show to be judged on three days of the Fair, September 5, 6, and 7, to be held in Detroit, August 30 to September 8. This event is the cause much rejoicing among the exhibitors as well as the visitors to the State Fair. The show will not be a Detroit or a Michigan affair alone but a national event and will bring competition for American championships in more than 50 different breeds. Secretary-Manager G. W. Dickinson of the State Fair, has maintained for several years that Michigan's biggest dog show should be held in connection with the State Fair and the dogs judged for championship points during the same week when the annual awards are made in other high class live stock. For people, outside the regular dog fanciers, realize the magnitude of the event. There will be from 500 to 600 dogs shown. You will see breeds of which you have only read and some of which you have never read or even heard. You will see dogs that weigh less than three pounds, Pomeranians, Yorkshires and the hairless Chihuahuas of Mexico, and dogs that weigh nearly as much as you do, massive St. Bernards from the high Alps, tall, long, thin aristocratic Borzois from the bleak steppes of Russia, heavy-boned powerful Great Danes from the estates of titled Europeans, German and Belgian police dogs that look more wolfish than a real wolf and members of the breed that has proven itself the most valuable of any breed during the present war being used by all the war armies. You can bring your own dog and should bring him.
