Win the War by Preparing the Land Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN VICTORY

The Food Controller of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000 bushels of wheat are available to feed to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be settled, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels! The Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good food and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

Natural Gas

Natural gas is probably formed in the earth by a process of natural distillation from the animal and vegetable remains of past geological epochs, and is nearly the same product as is distilled from the coal in the retorts of gas factories only instead of the heat of fire, the internal heat of the earth, aided perhaps by chemical decomposition, has caused its formation on a scale.

WORLD'S BIGGEST REGIMENT NEEDS 6,000 MORE MEN

Second "Lumberjacks" Will Have 10,500 Men When Recruited to Full Strength.

WILL CUT TIMBER IN FRANCE

Loggers, Sawmill Workers, Road Builders and Laborers Wanted—With Road Work Are Favored—Offer of $1000 a Year and 100 Acres of Land.

JOHN L. COBB, JR., Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C.—A nation-wide effort is being made by the forest service to assist the war department in securing six thousand men needed to complete the second "lumberjack regiment," or the Twenty-third engineers (forest) as it is officially known. When recruited to full strength the unit will comprise 10,500 men and will be the largest regiment in the world. Of the men needed now, three thousand should be loggers, sawmill workers and men experienced in building and operating logging railroads, and the remaining three thousand should be trained road builders and laborers familiar with road work.

The regiment will cut from the French forests the immense amounts of trench and bridge timbers, crossties, fuel for engines and tanks, and fuel for our armies and those of the allies will need. A similar unit, known as the "First Lumberjack regiment," or the Tenth engineers (forest), was organized in the summer and has been hard at work in the woods for some time.

Canadians Started It.

The idea of the "lumberjack regiment" is not original with this country. Early in the war Canadian forestry battalions were sent across to help manufacture the needed lumber and timber products, while last spring soon after the United States entered the struggle ten sawmill units were equipped by lumbermen of New England for service in Great Britain.

Not many people think of France as having much timber. Indeed the exports of the French forest output compare with our own. But there is more timber than is generally known. The French have found that it pays to grow a crop of trees on poor, rocky soil, and just as it pays to grow a crop of wheat on the better soils. They have practiced forestry for generations and have learned to handle their holdings with great care and are very thorough in their methods as is produced each year.

Kit inspection, Preparatory to Going Across.

several have already been sent forward to take up their work on the other side. In order to distribute labor equitably in the lumber industry as little as possible, it was decided that qualified registrants under the selective draft law, who have not been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for duty may be "inducted" into the regiment. Applicants for induction should write the Director at Washington, D. C., stating their age, a full statement of experience and the names of former employers.

The type of men in the Twentieth is the same as that of the Tenth. Husky, hard-boned, big-boned fellows, who can hold their own anywhere, their officers say they can tick their weight in wild oats any old day and can "log" as many sawmills as there are to cut the lumber.

So Fully Equipped.

Like the Tenth, they will take with them everything needed to produce lumber, from the "stump to the car," as the trade phrase goes. Axes, cross-cut saws, hand saws, chainsaws, horses, rubber boots, gloves, complete sawmills, two-ton trucks, griststones, and all the other thousand and one articles found in a well-equipped lumber camp are included in their equipment.

Their work will be behind the firing line. They may not see any fighting, but they will see a surprise as complete that it becomes necessary to call on all hands. But every strike of an axe or every cut of a saw is going to count just as much as a shell, and if lumber will help win the war, those 10,500 huskies will more than go to their share.

THEATER IS ONE TEUTON WEAPON

Elaborate System of Using Performers to Circulate German Propaganda.

Paris Close Benefit of Gaiety. Refusing to Close Amusements to Save Fuel—Germans Flood Neutral Countries.

Paris.—Attention has been attracted to the use the Germans make of the theater as a vehicle of propaganda by a recent suggestion that the Paris theaters be closed to save fuel. Fortunately this short-sighted policy has not been adopted. It would have added to the war-worn atmosphere of the capital without accomplishing any good results. But the agitation has served the purpose of revealing that the allies have much to be organized to fight to give alive in their own language, their ideals, their literature, through their theaters and music, while the Germans have overlooked an opportunity.

It is not saying too much to insist that never has the theater been so necessary as now to the nations. There is more than ever, men—soldiers or civilians—need the relief from the strain of war afforded by a release into the realm of fantasy, a visit to the unreal world.

Used in German Propaganda.

That it is a mistake to look upon the theater only as a place of amusement is amply demonstrated by the theaters, who have made of it a weapon. Their actors, their singers, their musicians have never been busier at home and abroad as since the beginning of the war. In neutral countries, Switzerland, for instance, from the day of mobilization, the German actors appearing in Swiss theaters were required to leave the call to arms.

Since then, in the German-Swiss cantons there has been a positive avalanche of theatrical troupes and of the thousands of persons—audiences, artists and employees—gathered each evening in places of amusement are warmed and lighted in so many of these people of coal much less than in those who would have consumed in the same time had they remained at home.

They have closed the theaters and have meant increasing the sadness of Paris, the throwing out of work of thousands of persons, who would have to be fed and supported in some other way, besides antagonizing 43 labor unions. As a high military authority says: "The theater is the most effective of other fertilizers has made the loss of a 'vaquainted nation'."
