

DR. D. W. CAMPBELL TO OPEN OFFICE IN DETROIT.

The following item from an Alpena paper tells its own story. We are glad to hear of this Birmingham boy's great success, and know that in coming to Detroit he has made a mistake and has our best wishes for continued success. His office is in the David Whitney building, Nos. 923-927, and his phone, Main 1454:

"Announcement of a business and professional change of one of Alpena's prominent professional men, Dr. D. W. Campbell, is made with sincere regret by the News.

"Dr. Campbell announced today his intention of removing from this city to Detroit, where he will become associated with Dr. Mark A. Gardner and Dr. A. L. McPhee, dentists, with offices in the David Whitney Building. The family will immediately begin packing, preparatory to removing from the city about October 1st. They will reside at 294 West For-st Avenue.

"Coming to Alpena fifteen years ago, Dr. Campbell began a medical practice with Dr. M. V. Scriver, later opening an office alone. He has been especially active in service during the past year in war work, being a member of the District Medical Advisory Board, in addition to giving his services in various other capacities.

"Always prominent in the professional and social life of the city Alpena will generally miss Dr. and Mrs. Campbell, the latter of whom has been equally interested in the various City affairs, taking an active part in Red Cross and Liberty Loan work, together with other forms of women's war work.

"Dr. Campbell is the sort of man who has the gift of making friends in any place, added to which he possesses real professional ability, a combination which should insure his success in any chosen field. What is Alpena's social and professional loss in Detroit, gain, and the Campbell family will carry with them very genuine good wishes from the many friends that they have made in Alpena."

IN PONTIAC COURTS.

Austin Parks, of Birmingham, was arraigned before Justice Fredenburgh Saturday afternoon on a charge of conducting a saloon in the block owned by him at that place. Parks pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $50.00.

Samuel Adams, of Birmingham, pled guilty to violating the State Prohibition law and his sentence was continued until Monday and his bail also continued. Carl Brette, arrested in the same connection and on the same charge stood mute, and the court entered a plea of "not guilty." He was represented by Attorney William C. Manchester, of Detroit.

Delbert Snelling, charged with illicit traffic in liquor, in connection with the cases of violation of the smuggling of whiskey in on his car) which were investigated in Birmingham this past week, waived examination before Justice Fredenburgh Saturday afternoon and was bound over to the Circuit Court, with bail fixed in the sum of $300.00 which was furnished. Snelling is a D. U. R. motorman on the Toledo Division.

The plaintiff was given a judgment of $378.18 in the suit of George W. Wood vs. H. George Field, which was decided in Circuit Court. The case went to the jury at 4:10 o'clock. Wood, a resident of Birmingham, sued Field, President of the Field Construction Company, also of Birmingham, for damages to his automobile, when it figured in an accident December 17, 1917, on the Detroit road, between Pontiac and Birmingham. The Wood car, driven by Harry Wood, brother of the plaintiff, now a midshipman in the Navy Training School at Great Lakes, Ill, was following an automobile driven by Field, which, in turn, was behind a Ford car, all going north on the Detroit road between Pontiac and Birmingham. The Ford car came to a sudden stop and Field drove his machine on the D. U. R. tracks, in an attempt to pass without a collision. An interurban car approached at that time and struck Field's car, pushing it back into the Wood car, causing damages, for which Wood asked $378.18. On March 12, 1918, Justice Fredenburgh gave the plaintiff a judgment of $300 and $19.60 costs and defendant appealed to the higher court. The plaintiff was represented by P. B. Bromley, and Attorney Edward Wunsch, of Detroit, represented defendant. The jurors were James Kneale, William O. Schoff, Bert Sowles, Ford Parker, Hugh Dickie, Timothy Brooks, Ward Carey, Henry Lunderman, Charles Durkee, Frank Nigle, A. W. Campbell and John Ingham. The court gave the defendant 30 days in which to move for a new trial and 30 days in which to settle a bill of exceptions if he cares to appeal.

Alertness for Mental Scuffle. Wit sharpens wit. Every man that has been compelled to converse with this fellow knows the joys of being able to parley and parry mental salutes. Quick action needs room. You can't have it when your attic's full, says a writer. Remove everything that does not add to your working stock and there will be mental room and alertness for any scuffle. The fact that you are challenged puts you on your metal. Solving you ready for mental combat starts others to the same end. And that's good for the world. There's too much talking things as they come for the best progress. We need a little more getting things lined up for the best effectiveness. When the attic's clear you can take opportunity by the forelock and turn him where you will. When you are clogged with too much lumber you have to leave that to others. It doesn't pay.

WE'RE ON THE TEAM; WE'RE IN THE GAME; WE'RE OUT TO WIN

By A. ALONZO STAGG, Famous Athletic Coach, University of Chicago.

I said to a friend recently that I had not felt so poor in 34 years, or since I was a freshman at Yale working my way through. "Well, don't you think we ought all of us to feel poor these days?" was the reply. That is just the point. We ought. If we don't feel on the strain most of the time these days I doubt whether we are doing our full duty in helping win the war.

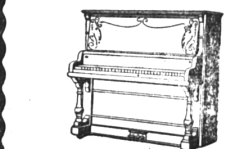

My observation is that we never accomplish much in this life without being dead in earnest, without hard work and without self-sacrifice, and I can't figure out how we can win this war without all of us co-operating most generously along these lines. First of all, unless we feel dead in earnest about our winning the war there is something wrong with us and it were better that a mill stone were hanged about our neck and we were drowned in the depth of the sea.

No one will work hard and make personal sacrifices unless his heart is in the enterprise. The beautiful part of this affair is that we can all be in it—we are all on the big team with a chance to play the game to our limit. At present we must play the particular position which is assigned to us, and play it for all that is in us whether we like our job or not.

The main thing and the loyal and patriotic thing is that we give to our utmost of time and energy and money. Putting the fourth Liberty Loan across means that each one of us must give that utmost of time and energy and money.

We're on the team, we're in the game, we're out to win. Now let's get down under it and root and boost until we cross the goal line.

EVERY LIFE A REASON FOR PURCHASING BONDS

Duty to Our Country Far Greater Than to Dearest Friends in Time of Need.

By LILLIAN GISH, Famous Screen Actress.

I know 500,000,000 reasons for buying a Liberty bond, and not one against a bond. Certainly every life in this country and in the lands of our allies offers a reason, for each one considers his own life and freedom worth any protection necessary, even to death.

No matter how pressed for funds one would loan a dearest friend a few dollars in time of greatest need, knowing the money would be returned with interest. And how much greater is the duty to one's country than to one's dearest friend!

If you had been with me in London one afternoon, a "Four-Minute" man of a different breed than ours would have given you so many reasons for buying bonds you would never think of reasons, but just give, and give, and give. He was a Hun aviator and he was over London just four minutes. And he dropped bombs.

One dropped on a public school where little children were at their studies. It was a big school. Nearly all were killed or maimed. Their mothers came, when the alarm was spread. They fought with the police. Most of the mothers had husbands at the front. Their faces and their outcries! How much those women had to give!

A few Liberty bonds measure up pretty small compared with a little child, or a brother, or father, or husband, or sweetheart, or friend. In the past we have put our raw efforts in the mint of commerce, and got money; and now we put our money in the mint of patriotism and get Liberty bonds.

In the prayer book of democracy to-day the fly-leet should be a Liberty bond. Have you got yours?

Just Pass It On. Inquisitive people are the funnels of conversation; they do not take in anything for their own use, but merely to pass it to another.—Steele.

Dressing for Dinner. The custom of dressing for dinner was handed down to us from the Romans, who put on a loose robe of light texture, and generally white, before going to the most important meal of the day. Instances occur where it was kept in readiness for guests who came from a distance and had had no opportunity of dressing before arrival.

Speaking Kindly of Dead. "Whose funeral is that?" "Hon. Saul Slicker's," replied the landlord of the Potomac tavern. "It is not customary to speak ill of the dead, and so I'll just say that he was a member of the legislature for two terms."—Judge.

Treatment for Ferns. Spray the fern once a week with a solution of tobacco extract, using one of the commercial extracts, one fluid ounce to a gallon of water. If the plant is badly infested, cut off the fronds and burn them.
