AVIATORS' DEAN AT STATE FAIR

Will Be Seen In Conjunction With the Great Feature In Fireworks, "The Battle of Chateau Thierry", Each Afternoon and Evening

Detroit (Special)—Louis Gertson, one of the best known aviators in America, has obtained his release from the aerial mail service and is to resume exhibition flying. He will appear at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit during the 10 days of the fair August 29 to September 7.

He was one of the first pilots carrying mail by airplane between Washington and New York. Several times during his months of flying for the postoffice department he had narrow escapes from which a flier less experienced than he might not have emerged successfully.

Gertson was one of the first fliers in this country. In the earliest days of the airplane he did exhibition flying at expositions and fairs. He appeared at the Michigan State Fair two years ago and electrified the thousands of spectators by looping the loop, flying upside down and through flying by only the light of the moon. He was the first to attempt night flying.

Shortly after appearing at the fair in Detroit he became an instructor at military aviation camps where American arms of flying men received the training with which they later were able to drive the Germans from the sky.

Night flying with many new tricks Gertson has learned in the past two years, together with all the "stunts" known to flying men will be included in his daily and nightly programs at the Fair this year.
