MICHIGAN GRAINS WIN HONORS AT BIG SHOW

Majority of Rye and Wheat Prizes Brought Back to State From Industrial Exhibit.

Eight out of the six on prize, they were awarded for samples of the more than half of all the premiums given out in the class for wheat and such awards for other crop exhibits are among the notable victories scored by Michigan farmers at the International Grain and Hay show, which closed its week of display on December 6 at Chicago.

In the classes for wheat and rye growers Michigan always competed against the entire United States and Canada, such famous wheat states as Kansas and the Dakotas being included. In spite of the handicap of competition the state farmers came off with flying colors, as their local exhibit took half the prizes offered.

There was but one class for hay, including entries from all the state and Canada, but Michigan here succeeded in pulling down 5 of the 10 prizes offered.

Another feature of the exhibits which is regarded as a triumph for Michigan farming interests is the fact that Boosters and Hi-Ki Clubs of Michigan developed and introduced to the Michigan Agricultural college stood head and shoulders over any other state at the show. Boys and girls took first, second, fourth and fifth places offered in all of nine awards. Of the second exhibit which, by the way, was the largest ever made by any state, Michigan won first prize, as well as the second, fourth and fifth prizes offered.
