Mrs. C. Sullivan, of Almont, Mich., was a caller at the Eccentric office Thursday.

Birmingham business men are ready to a knowledge that the Mc. Clements family of houses is terribly tough on trees.

Mr. E. P. Diversey is better than he has been for some time, does not suffer the pain he did some weeks ago, and manages to move around the house a little.

Our old friend, A. B. Barns, of 2515 1/2 street, is still on the sick list, and is a great sufferer. We had hoped to have seen him soon, but he is still in bed, and does not seem to be improving.

A string of regular arm trucks went through the city yesterday as if the war was to be continued, perhaps 50 of them, and someone sure is stocking upon auto trucks. They come from the General Motors Co., Pontiac.

Did not notice that light wages for the little men on subscription if there be due from you in 1927. It would not hurt you if a few more just boys in us will be able to buy more, from it and just sit and look at it, after that.

Dr. George P. Reynolds, who has been in the city for some time, is now in the city, and is a great sufferer. We had hoped to have seen him soon, but he is still in bed, and does not seem to be improving.

Mr. G. A. Abbott, manager of the Village Commission, since he has been in the city, is a great sufferer. We had hoped to have seen him soon, but he is still in bed, and does not seem to be improving.

Miss Ethel Bassett's sunny face is missing in the city, and she is a great sufferer. We had hoped to have seen her soon, but she is still in bed, and does not seem to be improving.

The night friends of Miss Kaye Good have been in the city for some time, and are a great sufferer. We had hoped to have seen them soon, but they are still in bed, and does not seem to be improving.

Mr. R. A. Sargent, of 1017 West 10th, is a great sufferer. We had hoped to have seen him soon, but he is still in bed, and does not seem to be improving.

Mr. R. A. Sargent, of 1017 West 10th, is a great sufferer. We had hoped to have seen him soon, but he is still in bed, and does not seem to be improving.

Mrs. Sarah Fillingim has returned from a visit with her Birmingham relatives.

Ashes to ashes and dust to dust, if Christmas don't getcha the taxes mat. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Harris of this village, spent Sunday with friends in Windsor.

Dame Remondy at that Detroit place, will build a number of dwellings at Claxson this summer.

Mrs. W. A. Grove, of Ann Arbor, is confined to the house with a dislocated shoulder, resulting from a fall. J. S. Voorhees, one of Oakland City's promoters, was out to rest Wednesday. His time was spent in the city.

Miss Sarah E. Stearns, New York, attending executive meetings of the American Nurses' Association and the American Red Cross.

Mr. G. A. Abbott, manager of the Village Commission, since he has been in the city, is a great sufferer. We had hoped to have seen him soon, but he is still in bed, and does not seem to be improving.
