Here's Hot Water For Your Early Shave

Day and night every hot water faucet in the house responds instantly when you have a Ruud in the basement. Just turn the faucet—that's all!

RUUD AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATER
"Hot Water All Over the House"

Turning on a faucet lights the gas in the Ruud Heater. Turning off the faucet puts it out. There's no fire under the water heater instantly as it passes through a copper coil. And a Ruud economically uses hot gas when it's not getting hot water. If you're tired of your slow heating tank, come in and look at this better way of supplying hot water to your home. Ruud Heaters are made in six sizes.

RUN THE HOUSEHOLD ON BUDGET SYSTEM

Keep Careful Accounts and Divide Family Income Wisely—Suggestions for Various Salaries.

A budget is absolutely necessary to the wise and well-proportioned running of a household. No budget can be made to fit all families, even families of like size socially, etc., but the well-proportioned budget provides a fair financial basis, a starting point from which to begin the work of wisely dividing the family income.

The main thing is to get the budget started, to keep careful accounts—in a way that will permit annualization of expenditures for at least several months a year, if possible. Many people keep accounts personal and household, only in a way that balances cash and shows how it has been expended. A budget should do better than that.

An exact budget is difficult to provide at present, with all living prices in a state of flux but with a prevailing upward tendency. Figures differ greatly in various sections of the country, frequently in various parts of the same state. But in strictly industrial centers, it has been authoritatively computed, food usually consumes about 43 per cent of the ordinary income, shelter its net cost, fuel and light 6 per cent, and the various "utilities," so grouped because so difficult of more exact classification, 20 per cent. In the following suggestive budgets for various incomes the "utilities" item has been placed first as most necessary where the family income is not too large, and is particularly desirable. This item may include the insurance savings bank accounts and such other stable income-bearing governmental securities absolutely necessary with the kind of incomes noted as Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps.

Printed in China.

The Chinese follow the primitive way of printing from engraved wood on blocks. The matter to be printed is first written by means of ink upon paper which is pasted face down upon a block of wood. The paper is then rubbed until an inverted impression of the characters is left. Then the block is turned over to the printer, who works by hand. He takes care to ink the characters equally and to avoid tearing the impression.

"President Maker"

Thurston Wood, an old-time political leader of New York, was called "the president maker." He was prominent in procuring the nomination of General Taylor in 1828, and of General Scott in 1852, though the last named was not elected. In 1860 he supported Lincoln, though he had favored the nomination of William H. Seward for New York. He never held any public office.

Oldest Timber.

What is described as the oldest timber in the world which has been identified by man is found in an ancient temple employed in the construction of the temple—is in the form of ties which held the end of one stone to another. The ties appear to be tamarisk, of which the ark was constructed.

Neil Gwynne Custom.

The custom of placing an orange on a plate near the door of Savoy club, London, the Sunday after Christmas is probably a survival of the custom which prevailed at this club after the death of Neil Gwynne. In those days it was usual, in memory of the young girl, who was morally large-hearted and a kindly giver of alms, to place an orange on the plate whenever alms were distributed.
