BIRMINGHAM ECCENTRIC.

FORTY-SECOND YEAR. NO. 23. BIRMINGHAM, OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1919. WHOLE NUMBER, 2,154.

AWARD PRIZES FOR GARDENS

WINNERS ANNOUNCED AT GARDEN DANCE HELD BY LOCAL CLUB LAST FRIDAY.

Few social events which have been held in recent years in Birmingham have been as enjoyable as the first garden dance, held last Friday night at Johnston-Shaw hall, under the auspices of the Birmingham Garden and Nature club. Aside from the social interest of the evening, added interest attached to the gathering by reason of the fact that announcement was made of the winners in the first garden contest held by the club, prizes being given to those who had been adjudged the owners of the best gardens, as well as lawns.

The first prize, $25, was divided between Miss Baldwin and Thomas Farmer, both of Harmon street, each having been adjudged the owner of a 100 per cent garden. The prize of $10, presented for the best "Victory garden," went to Mr. Boertel, with a 95 per cent garden. The "bird" prize, $5, given for the best bird house with bath and other features calculated to attract the birds, went to Dr. Duack who returned the money to the club treasury. The prize of $5, for the best East Maple avenue property went to Mr. Bowman, for greatest improvement made; the $5 prize for West Maple, to Miss Dewar, with 81 per cent for garden, and 87 per cent for lawn and garden combined; the prize for best South Woodward property to Volney Nixon, with 90 per cent; the best on North Woodward, to Thad Leland, with a 92 per cent average; the $5 prize, for the best garden in the northeast section, formed by lines drawn through Woodward and Maple, to Mrs. Chas. Fagg, with 92 per cent; the $5 prize in the southwest section to Mrs. Marlotte, with 92 per cent. There was no member of the club in the southeast section, and the two winners of first prize came from the northwest section.

Honorable mention was given to W. J. Reinecke, of North Woodward, a close second in that section; to Dr. Charles Raynale, of Willetts and Bates, for general garden excellence, and to Mr. Hitchcock, of Willetts street, for vegetable garden.

In the inspection made of local gardens and lawns, on which the awards were made, a certain percentage was given for maintenance, arrangement, selection and general appearance. The inspection was made by an outside expert.

Hall a Veritable Bower.

One who attended Friday night's dance at the hall might have found difficulty in believing that he was indoors, as the hall was full of the beauty and fragrance of the garden. In the front of the hall at the center was placed a most artistic arbor, covered with leaves and flowers. A bird bath stood just inside, and a real feathered creature, a mounted bluebird, sat on the edge of the bath and gave the real touch of life to the feature.

At the further end of the hall, another arbor, beautifully decorated with leaves and flowers, and baskets of flowers on top, was used for the frappe booth. Green and colored leaves stood against the walls around the hall, and climbed on strings stretched from corner to corner. Large baskets of flowers were placed everywhere.

A mammoth sunflower, roots and all, stood in one corner of the hall and touched the ceiling. This was one of the exhibits from the children. It required four children to carry it to the hall. One entire side of the hall was taken up by school childrens' exhibits of vegetables and flowers. The tots came with their arms full, and with baskets artistically arranged, each declaring that he had a prize exhibit. If the Garden club has accomplished nothing else this year, it deserves credit for the enthusiasm it aroused in the small children, stimulating them to grow better gardens next year.

This being the first year of the club and meeting the usual difficulties facing a new organization, the club members feel satisfied that the effort of its few workers has not been in vain.

Mr. Boertel had an exhibit which in itself would have made an ordinary garden club proud as a peacock. His vegetable exhibit took a blue ribbon and his exhibit of mounted birds was very artistic. His flowers were beautiful and artistically arranged.

Miss Tolliver sent a large wicker basket, filled with many colored zinnias, which was admired and thoroughly appreciated by the Garden club. Miss De Carter received a blue ribbon for the most beautifully arranged exhibit of garden flowers. Mr. Leland's asters were beautiful, and her vegetable exhibit was a blue ribbon winner. [illegible] that peppers could grow so large. Mrs. Hendrie sent some beautifully colored foliage and several artistic vases of flowers. Miss Dewar, of West Maple, sent a fine assortment of vegetables and flowers. Dr. Shaw was the lucky recipient of the basket of vegetables and all envied him his good fortune.

Miss Baldwin sent some of the products of her 100 per cent garden. The unique vegetable bouquet designed by her was presented to Mr. Gabil as a solace for having the largest vegetable garden in town. Mrs. Gabil had a splendid garden and worked faithfully all summer, but somehow the garden inspector did not mark it high enough to entitle it to a cash prize.

The baskets of flowers sent to Mrs. Peck were much admired for their artistic arrangement. Others who sent flowers for decorations were Mr. Bitty, Mrs. Dunsnan, Mrs. Codagnet, Mrs. McClellan, Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Gruenberg.

Exhibits of Children.

Exhibits of vegetables, fruit and canned goods were made by the pupils of the local schools. Fred Fisher and Billie Luscomb had a wonderful collection of vegetables. Not being able, in its first year, to have a supervisor of school gardens, the heads of the club were not certain whether the exhibit of these two ambitious agriculturists was tended by themselves, or some indulgent parent, but nevertheless the huge pumpkin was the greatest curiosity in the hall. The boys received two blue ribbons and two red ones.

Marguerite Hoteling and Helen Manchester had an exhibit together, which was a blue ribbon winner. The exhibit was complete and they promise to do even better next year. The articles on exhibit included parsnips, carrots, beets, cabbage, cauliflower, pumpkin, Hubbard squash, Japanese lettuce, plum tomatoes, large red tomatoes, watermelon preserve, mustard pickles, corn relish, pears and tomato catsup.

The Kurth children arranged their vegetable exhibit very neatly in a large flat wooden container. The exhibit consisted of parsnips, carrots, beets, celery, cabbage, egg plant, pumpkin, pie plant, peppers, onions, corn, cucumbers and tomatoes.

Irving Green and Lambert Fleming had a peanut exhibit. Lambert arranged his in a box with earth and showed the plant, with the fruit growing on the vines, and then placed a box of peanuts already gathered in one corner. Who knows but these two boys may be supplying the peanut market some day.

Little Bobby Marlotte sent in a picture plant and received a blue ribbon because it was an unique exhibit. Bobby's father won the prize in his section for most attractive yard.

Grace Wiley took the blue ribbon for canned goods. Grace learned to can this summer and was one of the prize team at the Bloomfield Canning center. The prize banner was also on exhibition.

Mr. Clarence Vliet received a blue ribbon for his wonderful celery. Mr. Vliet surprised some of the villagers with the quality and quantity of his stalks.

Mr. Bowman, one of the club winners, is not a member of the Garden club, and was the only outsider to receive a prize, but the club thought he had earned recognition, inasmuch as he had made such a wonderful improvement in the house and yard he rents. The place was impossible, as far as surroundings counted, until he cleaned up the premises and hung porch baskets about the front yard. Mr. Bowman is employed by the street cleaning department of the village.

The Garden club president wishes to particularly thank those who assisted in decorating the hall. Mrs. Duack's work was thoroughly appreciated, also that of Miss Baldwin, Mrs. Codagnet, Thomas Luscomb, Milton Betz and the many school children who worked so hard to help make the first dance and exhibit a success.

Mr. Bortle spoke a few words of encouragement for the effort put forth by the club to encourage the children and was willing to furnish the prize money in their behalf, if necessary, but Mr. George T. Hendrie had previously provided for them by giving the club $10 worth of Thrift Stamps to be divided among the winners.

The judge of the exhibits, Mr. Bessey of Detroit, said in awarding the ribbons that he considered the whole exhibit surpassed both in beauty and quality any of the many exhibits of Detroit. Mr. Bessey acted as one of the judges for the Twentieth Century club's exhibit of Detroit school gardens.

The Garden club's funds [illegible] the whole affair was a success. The music, furnished by Steele's orchestra was excellent and the door receipts covered the expense of the dance, which was more than the club expected for the first year's effort.

A little later on, the club will give a lecture on preparing the garden for next spring. Mrs. Carron, president of the Detroit Community Garden club will be speaker.

There were 93 exhibits of school children's gardens. The prize winning exhibits were displayed in the local merchants' windows.

The heavy local team proved too strong for the Detroit boys, the local boys making most of their gains by center rushes and long end runs, the Southeastern ends being very light compared to Birmingham.

PETITION FOR NEW SCHOOL

SPECIAL MEETING TO BE CALLED TO SELECT SITE FOR BUILDING.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education, held on the evening of Wednesday, Sept. 24, a petition, signed by 90 taxpayers, was presented by a committee representing residents living on the east side of Woodward avenue, asking that a new school be built on that side of Woodward. The members of the committee were requested by the Board to present another petition, as required by law, asking for the holding of a special meeting of the district, to select a site for the proposed new building. The committee members were promised that this step would be taken at once. While the Board of Education itself could call such a meeting, the members of the board stated that it would be better to have the initial step taken by the taxpayers themselves.
