THE ECCENTRIC
BIRMINGHAM
GEORGE E. ATCHELL, Publisher
$1.50 Per Year in Advance

A LOCAL NEED.

Birmingham needs a new hotel. This fact is daily manifest. As the matter of transient persons, who, after having social or business matters at hand, arrive in the Village by auto. Aside from the fact that a modern hotel edifice would be architectural beauty to our municipality, it would appear that the erection of an edifice within the corporate limits would indeed prove a beneficial interest-retaining venture—something that is no doubt apparent to each of our local business men called as we are, between Pontiac and Detroit with traffic originating in many cases because accommodations for commercial men can be had in no doubt as to the number of persons who would daily be attracted to a local hotel. Birmingham will surely welcome any united effort on the part of any Chamber to boost the project of a new, up-to-date hotel.

FATHER'S JOB.

To many persons the sound of the first robin in the Spring time means merely will the snow end its attack on the last of many winds vanish from the land. Then will the ladies fly away their "winter furs" amidst the sweet aroma of mothballs and cold waters the humming of the lawn mower machine for many days and in his thereafter period the "German out" of Mlle. [illegible] baby buggies of [illegible] Ye Editor counts the days when school will "let out" for Summer. Next to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]