Maine Romance and History of Past 100 Years

Colony Established on Pine Tree's Shore Before Landing of Pilgrims.

STATE HOLDS CELEBRATION

Coast First Visited by John Cabot in 1498—Maine Bared Path to Northern Colonization—Produced Many Men of Note.

Portland, Me., Oct. 10.—A hundred years ago Maine became a part of the Union and this year the state is celebrating the principal festival which will take place at Portland from Oct. 10 to 15.

While Maine is only a century old as a state in reality the territory was one of the first settled sections of North America. A century had been established on its shores 30 years before the pilgrims landed at Plymouth, Mass., in 1620. The Maine coast, part of the territory discovered by the early Norsemen, was first visited, it is believed, by John Cabot, the English explorer, in 1497, only six years after the discovery of the new world by Columbus. In 1499 the Portuguese explorer Corte Real came to Maine and in 1521 Varrazzano in Spain sailed under a royal commission along the coast. In 1524 a Spaniard, Gomez, discovered and named the DeBosquier Bay, and the name of St. Elizabeth was given to the French explorer. The latter visited the territory and returned to Europe with a story of Miramonte, Maine's first colony.

It was in 1607 that the first permanent settlement was made on the Maine coast. The settlement was made on the site of the present Portland, Maine, and was named "Forte de France."

In 1608 the first French settlement was made on the site of the present Portland, Maine, and was named "Forte de France."

First Chartered City

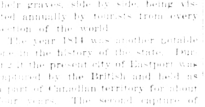

In 1641 a charter was granted to the city of Portland, Maine, which was the first charter granted to a city in the United States under the name of a city. This was the first charter granted to a city in the United States under the name of a city.

Many Notable Leaders

Some of the most notable leaders in American history were born in Maine. Among these are: Hannibal Hamlin, president of the United States; John D. Long, former secretary of the navy and governor of Massachusetts; and Rufus King, two United States minister to Great Britain and one of the principals in the drafting of the American constitution at Philadelphia.

ODOR TRAVELS IN CURRENTS

Experiment Seem to Have Demonstrated Fact Beyond All Possibility of Dispute.

The rapid propagation of smells in the open air appears to be directly in proportion to the intensity of the currents, since in small towns, where currents do not exist, the smell of a fire is not carried far.

The high temperature of the air is also a factor in the rapid propagation of smells. The higher the temperature, the more rapidly the smell is carried.

TURK WON'T SPEAK GERMAN

Advant of Americans Helps to Popularize English Language in the Levant.

Constantinople.—The Germans have failed in their effort to convert their culture into the Turk and instead the English language is beginning to make head in French in the commercial life of the Levant.

SCRUBS

It is a scrub which is an animal of mixed or unknown breeding, without definite type or markings. Such terms as native, mongrel, razor-back, black, and mustang are somewhat synonymous with "scrub," although many of the animals described by these terms have certain traits of type even though they present no evidence of systematic improvement.
