WAYS SUGGESTED FOR DIMMING CAR LIGHTS

Use of Salts or Ground Glass Substitute Favored.

Glare May Be Effectively Diminished by Placing in Center of Lens, Immediately in Front of Bulb, a Spot of Mixture.

The rich interpretation of head and tail light regulations in some countries has created a desire among motorists for some new means for rendering the lights less bright with out going to the bother and expense of substituting new lamp bulbs for those they are using.

One way out of the difficulty was suggested by the American Motorist, is the frosting of the lens or glass of the lamp.

AVTOMOBILE FANTS

The fabled need to fill the oil tank should have a strainer in it of very fine wire. It keeps out any dirt, etc.

When the crankcase is drained the oil after being thoroughly strained may be used in the gear set during the cold weather.

Some car owners are using ammonia solution to lubricate the valves when the latter becomes dull. This is a bad practice.

When so fluid that a certain oil is missing, explosions we must determine whether the fault is in the spark plug or not.

If the owner should have occasion to dismantle the springs he should take the opportunity to spread a lubricant over the bushings.

Try the fastenings at each lamp. The so-called eye of the screw causes them to weaken where they enter the lamp so that they may break readily.

Give over the leather on the car occasionally with special leather dressing and the difference in the appearance of the upholstery will repay you a thousand times.

When metal parts are to be exposed to the air at any length of time, precautions should be taken to prevent the formation of rust.

The engine must always be properly aligned with the other units in the chassis, and not merely on the brackets intended to carry it.

One of the things necessary to keep up the appearance of the motorcar is a constant touching up of such parts as lamps, wind shield frame, etc. where black enamel is used.
