

The Man Nobody Knew

By HOLWORTHY HALL

"ONCE I LOVED HIM"

"I love you," he said, and she knew that he meant it. She had never heard him say those words before. He was looking at her with a look of such earnestness that she felt that she had never known him before. He was looking at her with a look of such earnestness that she felt that she had never known him before.

set in motion, he could not see it. He was looking at her with a look of such earnestness that she felt that she had never known him before. He was looking at her with a look of such earnestness that she felt that she had never known him before.

How could she help it? And that she did. She did not know him. She did not know him. She did not know him. She did not know him. She did not know him.
