Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McBride, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Raymond and their children, Hattie and Irene, returned to Lansing Sunday, where they were guests of Mrs. Raymond's mother, Mrs. Isabelle Hamilton, Miss Martin, whose home is in Lansing, accompanied them.

LITERARY CLUB.

The Literary Club which met with Mrs. Ross on Tuesday had an unusually well attended and instructive meeting. Miss Curtis alone discussed the theme of French Art from its most primitive beginnings down through the Gallic-Romanic period to the close of the Mirostic Age in the thirteenth century. Miss Curtis' presentation of the matter was so thoroughly acquainted she is with the whole subject of art.

49* more than this evening interest in the next meeting which will be held with Mrs. Bigelow, 300 West Main. At that time Mrs. Utter and Mrs. Kennedy will discuss the nominees for office and the issues involved not only in the town and ward but also in the county and township. Miss Utter will try to answer all questions which the women voters may wish to ask and she will present the ballot as it will appear at the November election.

Every man is urged to bring a copy of the paper to present herself at 230 sharp.

More than twenty years ago Carghill Young, son of W. H. Young, took his departure for Denver, Colo. a confirmed invalid whose many friends doubted if he would arrive at his destination alive. Last week he surprised his father and a lot of his friends by his sudden appearance, hale, hearty, a trifle gray but altogether healthy and happy; a living testimonial to art and veterinarian coupled up with the wonderful Colorado climate. He is happily married and engaged in a lucrative business in Denver. One of our oldest and best known pioneers, Mr. Frank W. Young, has taken up his residence with his daughter, Mrs. Emma Wright of Pontiac.
