When Just a Little Heat is Needed

As it so often is—on sharp Fall mornings or evenings, you'll find there's nothing that compares with a

Portable Electric Air Heater

You can move it about at will—attach it to any light socket—snap the switch—and you have a veritable sunburst of clean, warmth. It's shortsighted to operate your furnace in the early Fall when one of those ELECTRIC HEATERS will so easily fill the bill.

Revard Smith, John Lacombe, Donald Mann and William Marchant, were the hosts at the first of informal dances to be given this season. The affair, which took place last Friday evening, opened what is hoped to be an unusually gay winter in the social life of Birmingham. The evening was opened at 9 o'clock with a grand march led by two of the young hosts. The effect of the decorating scheme was not to have far surpassed any previous effort on the part of the young entertainers. The spacious walls of the Johnson-Shaw hall were hung with richly colored tapestries bordered with brilliant-hued autumn leaves. The silver chairs and gorgeous lamps, hidden as they were in leaves, made into quaint little hovers, helped to give a spirit of did general effect. In the center of the dance floor, surrounded by palms, Finner's orchestra, of Detroit, played many of the newest "jazz" airs as well as several of the old-time melodies with which renders the colored spotlight was used. The appearance of a number of freshly created gowns contributed brilliance to a pretty scene. Miss Wilson, one of the high school girls, acted as patroness for the evening while D. J. Smith, who entertained several of his Detroit friends, took charge as patron of the affair. The list of invitations included an unusual number of out-of-town guests while about fifty of the couples in attendance were from Birmingham.

A "Kid Party" will be staged in the Johnson-Shaw hall next Saturday evening. The guests are to be members of the "Married People's Club." Mrs. Henry Klime, of Forest avenue, has charge of the refreshments for the affair while Mrs. Fred Farrar, of Brown street, will supervise the decorating. The club was organized early last season and at the present time has about fifty couples on the membership list. This will be the second of the dances given this fall.

At the home of Miss Buelah Wendurpf, of Rosedale cemetery, the seventh grade pupils of the Baldwin high school were entertained last Friday evening. The affair was in the form of a game party, and a number of especially attractive and some of the ordinary costumes were in evidence. The young hostess served refreshments and games during the evening holiday. The decorations, carried out in the hallways in spirit, lent a bit of whimsy and rolicking joy to the occasion.

Village President W. D. Clizbe wishes to express his extreme gratification for the fact that the citizens of Birmingham have so generally observed his request as to the burning of leaves during the dry weather and also stated he hopes everyone will be careful with fires during November, since, during that month, it is permitted to burn the leaves.

At the Hotel Statler in Detroit on the evening of November 2 the Birmingham Guild will entertain with dancing and card party. To insure the complete success of the affair arrangements have been made with the hotel management to display the election returns in the ball-room.

The Odd-Fellows hall was one brilliant splash of color last Tuesday evening when the members of the Women's Benefit Association entertained with a dancing party. The entertainment committee announces that a splendid social program has been planned for the season.

In the club rooms of the Knights of Pythias refreshments for members will be served the evening of November 2. During the evening election returns will be given out. All members and their friends are expected to take part in the evening.

Three tables of bridge were in play during the afternoon following the charming luncheon given by Mrs. Thomas L. Lacombe, of West Maple avenue, last Wednesday. Several out-of-town guests were included in the list of guests present.

The Birmingham Bridge Club will be entertained by Mrs. Fred A. Fisher her home a week from this Wednesday. The last place of meeting was at the home of Mrs. Thomas L. Lacombe, of West Maple road.

The Western Women's Golf association met at the Detroit Golf Club on last Monday, for noon luncheon. The annual election officers took place. Bloomfield Hills was represented by a great many local players.

Mellin-Wright-Moulthrop's Lumber Sextette

One of the best possible uses to which money can be put is the purchasing of choice, well seasoned lumber. Lumber that lives year after year doing its duty for its owner is surely a worth while investment. We are asking you over to our lumber yard to inspect the well taken care of timber we are offering. Will you come?
