MR. AND MRS. W. R. COREY WILL MOVE TO NORTH ADAMS

Following a year of most successful business relations in the village, Mrs. W. R. Corey, who has been maintaining an up-to-date millinery store on West Maple avenue, will leave next week for North Adams, Michigan, which is located in the southern part of the state. She will go into business there.

During the time Mrs. Corey has been in business she has made a great many friends owing to her genial disposition and competency in business dealings. The women of Birmingham have found her just in all her business transactions and more than ready to please at all times.

Mr. Corey has made arrangements to go into the battery business in North Adams. He is well acquainted with the business and feels that the field for such a trade in that village is a wide one.

OUR CORRESPONDENT'S LETTER

We reached Carcross in ample time for dinner at the Caribou Hotel. The dinner was good, and I had some moose steak for the first time. The meal cost us $1.25, which was not bad, all things considered. It is a very small place, and the only thing of interest was a fox farm, which we visited at 25 cents each, and we were satisfied with the show. There were seven baby foxes in one litter and they were very amusing, though somewhat shy. The foxes were mostly black ones, and are very valuable. There are two hotels, and they both seem to be doing well, notwithstanding that they have very little patronage except from tourists. It was very windy here, and it must be fierce in the winter, with the mercury as low as 50 to 60 degrees below zero.

We took the S. S. Tutshi, a stern-wheeler, and a fine clean boat, at 7 P. M. on our way to our next stop. The water of the Yukon just below Like Bennett, which is the real source of this mighty river, is very green. There are no range lights or lighthouses on the way. It does not get dark enough to make them necessary during the season that the river is open. Navigation closes about October 1st, when the ice begins to form. It was an all night trip to the next stop, and at eleven o'clock we stopped at a lumber camp, to load firewood, which is the only fuel they have, or use, on any of these boats, and took on ten or twelve cords in a very short time, by daylight. It was raining, or it would have been even lighter than it was, although you could read a paper easily. They run the boat very near to shore (these boats have very light draft), and tied her to some boulders that were there, and run out a wide loading plank, on which they trucked the full-length wood aboard, after which we proceeded safely on our way.

Taku City, our next stop, is the smallest place we have yet visited, and was once a thriving place, and city lots sold for fancy prices. Not over ten people live there now. At this place we changed to cars, on our way to Atlin, after having had a real good breakfast on the boat. Left this thriving metropolis at nine in the morning, and arrived at Scotia Bay, B. C. in about fifteen minutes, where we changed again and took the good ship Tarahne for Atlin. Left Scotia Bay landing at 9:45, and arrived at Atlin at about 10:30 A. M. Sunday morning, in time for church, but, I am sorry to say, none of us went, although, no doubt, all of us needed it.

To be continued in my next.

Regards to all,
W. F. ADAMS.

TORNADO INSURANCE

A heavy wind recently blew a shingle off an adjoining building through the window of a house projected by one of our Tornado Policies and we pay the owner enough to carry his policy nearly the entire term of three years.

Just think. For $4.00 you can buy $1,000.00 Tornado insurance on your home for three years. Can you afford to be without it? Then you need not fear, when the storm clouds threaten and the dreaded "TWISTER" seems headed your way! See us about it.

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—

Mrs. Clarence C. Brown: "There is no doubt in my mind at present as to the value of a 'classified ad' in the Birmingham Eccentric. Two weeks ago I put in a small 'ad'. Starting soon after the paper was out and continuing for several days, a constant procession of people called at the house to see the thing I had advertised. It is a fact that I could not get my work done the first day after it appeared, owing to the many persons that saw the 'ad' and were interested. I can never truthfully say again that the people do not read the 'ads' in the Birmingham Eccentric."

Mrs. F. C. Leonard, a board member of the Michigan Hospital School for Crippled Children at Farmington: "There has been a man in your town for almost a week selling extracts and soaps from house to house, with the pretense of turning the returns of his sales over to the school for crippled children at Farmington. He is a fake and has nothing whatever to do with the school. We have never at any time received funds in this way, but from the community fund. We want to warn the people of Birmingham against this man and, if at the time this appears in the paper he is continuing to operate in the village, will someone please notify me or H. G. Field, Brookside Park, who is one of the trustees of the institution?"

Mrs. Walter Nichols: "It is with the deepest regret that we are leaving Birmingham soon. During our residence of 26 years in the village we have come to be a part of it. Birmingham and Birmingham people and and the little things that were of so much joy while we lived here will always live strongly in our memory. I earnestly believe that some years ago I would have died if it had not been for the people of Birmingham who so generously gave their time for prayer for me. There has never been a time when we needed friends during the time we have been here, that we did not have many of them and we do regret leaving."

George F. Pullin, ventriloquist and resident of Birmingham, furnished several interesting numbers for the kiddies at the Free Press Fresh Air Camp located at Sylvan Lake, last Saturday evening when they were entertained in the auditorium on the grounds at the regular weekly show. The present season's appearance marks the fourth year that Mr. Pullin has been on the programs there and judging from the wild applause which was heard when he appeared on the platform, he has been extremely popular with them.
