Blissings of Disease.

The late Sir William Osler, one of the most distinguished physicians of modern times, has recently been quoted as having said that, for a man in middle age, the most important portion of his life is likely to prove a blessing in disguise, as it would make a man more careful in regard to his habits and thus prolong his life.

Do Not Chase a Person.

A dog will often chase a person who annoys it, but who ever heard of a cat doing so? However, a correspondent in Nova Scotia tells us she was chased by a cat which also made determined efforts to reach the object of her vengeance. The cat's ordinary housework and she would not let go until she had chased two people into the house.
