Methodist Episcopal

Sunday morning sermon subject: "Life's Good Gifts That are Near at Hand." Sunday school at noon. Epworth League, 6:30. Mr. Fred Mal-lender is the leader. The evening hour the special music will be two solos by Mrs. Leland, accompanied by Mr. Fried on the violin. The hour the dramatic book sermon, "Heaven of the Old House." Harold Bell Wright's latest book, just off the press. This is by far the greatest book Harold Bell Wright has written. It deals with the present day labor problem. Its next might be "The Wages of Sin is Death." A delightful love story is woven into it. If you have not time to read this book, come and hear its interpretation by the pastor of the Methodist church, Joseph Dutton.

First Presbyterian Church
These fine Fall days are good days for church attendance. Let us see to it that we take advantage of them. At 10:30 a.m. the pastor will have as his subject "Modernizing 'Pilgrim's Progress'." The Sunday school at 12 noon. Last Sunday we again "went over the top" in attendance for this year. Help us to do it again this Sunday by being in your place. Every teacher was on hand. The young people's meeting at 6:30 p.m. That very interesting book "Playing Squares With Tomorrow" will be begun. The first of our Mission Study classes, to get to work at 7:30 p.m. the first of a series of interesting missionary gatherings. One evening a month is to be given up to missions during the coming year. This is the first. This will be an illustrated sermon evening. You must not miss it. Strangers and visitors always welcome. This church makes a good church home.

Reformed Presbyterian
11:00 a.m., church service and Sunday school; Wednesday evening, 7:30, young people's meeting. Every-body welcome.
