But what have we to affer these prospective citizens of Birmingham? A good many things that they want, About as much, if not more, than any other community our services of the community of t going to stop growing in spirit as well as in population?

Would it not be well, then, to look upon this new hotel and motion picture show in the light of an addition of pride to Birmingham, the same as the Hill Auditorium is to Ann Arbor, or the Orchestra Hall to Detroit?

The leaky Existinging to the eislern of the Village of Birmingham is cludd by those things in a commutity that make for discounfort; and indonvenence. A large leak dould be repaired if we had within our confines a makern hotel and amusement house where we, as residents, could every their conforts; and to which
