Let the People Know

That
a gas meter is a very accurate measuring instrument

How often do we hear the poor old gas meter blamed for large gas bills. A great many people honestly believe that gas meters have a way of varying their measurements so as to inflate gas bills.

Gas meters, like most other things, made by human beings, can and sometimes do get out of order. When that is the case, they should be promptly reported so that they can be promptly repaired.

But the fact is that a gas meter is one of the most accurate measuring instruments in use today. The honest dealer buys many things by measuring devices, but of all such devices used none is as accurate as the gas meter.

Before a gas meter is placed on your premises, it is thoroughly tested and proved for correct registration by your gas company.

There are many ways by which gas bills may be held down, and we want to tell you about some of these ways in our short talks to you from time to time.

We are interested in having our customers satisfied and we know that they are not satisfied when they feel that their gas bills are higher than they should be, but it is often the fault of the consumers instead of the company when bills go higher than they should. We think we can help you to see this and also to hold down your bills.
