

SURE TO HELP SICK-WOMEN

Mrs. Baker, So Much Benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Anxious to Help Others

Lebanon, Indiana.—"I was completely run down from women's stomach trouble and for a long time was hardly able to get up. I had some friends who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they told me about it. I know what it has done for me and I recommend it to others, as I am sure it will be a great help to all sick women. It is a wonderful medicine, and I give you permission to use my testimonial in any photograph."—Mrs. EMMA BAKER, 810 S. East St., Lebanon, Indiana.

These letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ought to convince women of the great worth of this medicine in the treatment of ailments to which they are often subject.

Mrs. Baker calls it "a wonderful medicine." If you are suffering from troubles women often have, or feel all run down, without any ambition or energy for your regular work, get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a natural restorative and health-giver, as was Mrs. Baker and many, many other women.

A Man on His Late By J. ALLEN DUNN

THE DEAD ALIVE

"Karluk ahoy!" The face of Captain Simms paled, the tan turned to a sickly gray, and his jaw dropped.

"Jim! Jim!" gasped the captain. "You skulking sculpin! Thought I was bear meat for this, didn't you, blast your rotten soul to—!"

"You left me blind on the fog. Blind in a driving blizzard with the ice broken up! If I didn't have you for your carcass I'd twist your head from your scaly body like I'd pull up a carrot."

Well, here they are—the main characters in the best sea tale that J. Allen Dunn ever wrote.

The author, born in England, he has traveled the world and settled down here fifteen years ago to write about stories of a dozen or so thrilling "best sellers."

CHAPTER I. It was perfect weather along the San Francisco waterfront, and Hatney reacted to the brisk touch of the trade-wind on his cheek.

"You're right, Boss. You must get over this habit of extravagance, Boss," said the apostrophe.

man's mind concerning him. And he felt the thin fingers contract ever so slightly, sinking into the muscles of his forearm for a second with a hint of how they could bruise and paralyze it with a few drops.

"I had a short talk with Captain Simms when she doctored. Not much of a yarn. She didn't have a good trip, you know."

"Why, I didn't know. But—holds a minute, will you? You see, Simms is an old shipmate of mine. He don't dream I'm within a hundred miles of here. Aye, or a thousand."

"Jim! Jim!" gasped the captain. "You skulking sculpin! Thought I was bear meat for this, didn't you, blast your rotten soul to—!"
