How To Save On Clincher Tires

THE one sure way to save money on tires is to buy the tire which has the greatest possible value built into it and then get that value out.

The tire made cheaply to sell at a low price, and sold without service behind it, cannot meet these specifications.

The fact that "More People Ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other Kind," is due largely to one thing. Instead of building tires as cheaply as it can, Goodyear builds them as Good as it can, putting into them all possible value.

And we as Goodyear dealers make a sincere effort to help Goodyear users get out of these tires all the value the factory has built in.

Goodyear Tires are lower in price and better in quality than ever before.

As a result you can enjoy from Goodyear tires with our service behind them not only greater tire satisfaction and less tire trouble, but also lower final cost.

EXTRA! EXTRA! NEWS OF PONTIAC IN 1856

John Heth, Local Resident, Brings To Light Old Copy Of Pontiac Jacksonian

The Pontiac Daily Press printed a news item a few days ago saying that an issue of that paper had come to light dated June 21, 1856, called the "Pontiac Jacksonian." The paper was given to the Press by the Misses Mary and Kate Hill of that city. It spoke of a death notice of General Lewis Case, at the age of 84 years.

A Birmingham resident has dug still deeper into his treasure chest and has unearthed a copy of the Pontiac Jacksonian dated September 26, 1856, and published by Oscar A. Stevens. The old edition is in a well-preserved condition and is perfectly legible. It is a seven column, eight page sheet and is full of interesting news. It was the 8th number of the 20th volume.

At the head of the first column on the front page, the owner of a stage coach line makes known the route of excursion trips and guarantees to deliver his passengers in safety. A Pontiac merchants tell of the merits of Indian remedies made by local Indians and the editorial page has a word to say about James Buchanan of Pennsylvania, and John C. Breckinbridge of Kentucky, Democratic nominees for president and vice-president, respectively. "The Democrats of Holly had a grand round-up at the old mill the other day" is another newsy item which the little sheet contained.

The paper is owned by John Heth, a local resident whose hobby for years has been that of collecting copies of newspaper many years old. He believes that he has a copy of the Pontiac Jacksonian which dates back possibly ten years before the one he located. He has only lived in Birmingham 19 years but has taken an active interest in gathering historical data about Oakland County and believes that he possesses some of the most interesting and historical relics in the entire county.

* * * WE HEARD IT SAID BY— * * *

Clayton Stokes, lieutenant of police: "Tell the world for me that I have a brand new motor cycle and that there never was an automobile made that I can't catch. I'm going to be fair with all motorists who drive in and around Birmingham, but, if they try any reckless driving or speeding it will be a case of 'Good morning, Judge.'"

John B. Williams of Birmingham Estates: "Business men generally are feeling the upward trend of affairs and they are most encouraging. I believe that conditions today, as compared with conditions last Fall, are at least 50 per cent better. Money seems to be getting more free and people are spending more of it. From now on we should continue to progress to the former pre-war prosperity.

F. S. Buck, local justice of the peace: "Things are pretty quiet around town these days. About the only cases I have to dispose of are those for speeding and overloading of vehicles. I consider the lack of misdemeanor cases that were quite prominent a year ago, to be representative of the times—it shows that we are getting back to normal and that people are able to better and legitimately get what they want."

Homer Leonard, local electrical dealer: "The people of Birmingham and nearby are certainly possessed of the 'radio bug.' I have sold a good many sets during the past few months —the grownups are as much interested in radio as the young people. I believe that radio is one of the greatest inventions of modern times. It has come to stay."

Thomas Farmer, Harmon avenue: "Unlike many local residents, I do not think that the faith and credit of Birmingham has been injured or impaired because an injunction was served on the Village Commission restraining them from paying the notes for the 300,000 gallon steel storage tank. I think that manufacturers who learn of this injunction will feel that the people of Birmingham are 'on their toes' relative to municipal purchases, and will be all the more inclined to sell to us."
