"Bank References Necessary"

Before that mutual confidence, so necessary to important business, is established, bank references are usually necessary.

A man, who is close to his bank, who makes a practice of conferring with his bank's officers, usually has a sound business and is worthy of confidence.

We are proud of the relations which exist between this bank and its depositors.

SENIOR PLAY CAST SELECTED

Last week the characters for the Senior play, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back", to be presented the latter part of April. They are:

Joey Wright, a retired bookmaker, Lawrence Westerby.

Christopher Penny, a painter, Thomas Williamson.

Major Tompkins, retired, Eliot Coryell.

Mrs. Tompkins, his wife, Herma Reynolds.

Vivian, their daughter, —(?)

Jape Samuels, of the City, Russell Berger.

Miss Kite, unattached, L. June Houghtaling.

Mrs. Percival de Hooley, cousin to Sir George Tweedie, Bart, Florence Wendorph.

Stasia, the Slavey, Edith Roach.

Mrs. Sharpe, the landlady, Norma Clarke.

The Stranger, Forbes Hascall.

The Third Floor Back.

Every character in the production has a definite part to play in order to make the play a success. If the characters fail in their parts the play will fail, for that is what makes the play famous.

The University Theatre have performed this play in several cities and have met with the heartiest approval. Our cast went to Pontiac when the U. of Detroit played there, and were prescribed to the director of the play who will we hope be able to help us in our presentation of this great drama.

Last Thursday evening, March 2, nine aspirants in public speaking gathered in the Baldwin auditorium to struggle for supremacy in the local declamatory and oratorical contest, the winners of which will represent Birmingham in the sub-district contest held at Kent April 7.

Mr. Hart acted as chairman of the contest and introduced the following speakers: Winifred Huntoon, Elizabeth Blascombe, Monzelle Hoffman, Helen Clark, Douglas Atcheson and Marian Opp, in declamation, and Forbes Hascall, Herma Reynolds and June Houghtaling in Oratory.

After carefully deliberating the judges awarded first place in declamatory to Winifred Huntoon and second place to Douglas Atcheson. In oratory, first place was given to Herma Reynolds and second place to Forbes Hascall. June Houghtaling, the third contestant, had a fine speech also, as the judges on thought and composition all awarded her second place.

Some splendid music was furnished by the High school Orchestra, and Miss Nelson rendered two unusually fine violin solos. The best wishes of the students and the town people go with Herma Reynolds and Winifred Huntoon to Flint April 7.

Frank Smith has returned to his home in New Jersey after spending about ten weeks with his brother, T. B. Smith of Knox street.

WEDDINGS

Mills-Miller

Before a small group of relatives and friends Miss Ina Mills, of Birmingham, and John Miller, of Flaxcumb, Saskatchewan, Canada, were united in marriage Wednesday morning, March 8, at the home of the bride's parents in Clinton, Michigan.

The marriage is of interest to a wide circle of friends here, as the bride has been in Birmingham for the past ten years, during which time she has taught in the grades of the local schools. Before her marriage she resigned as principal of the Harmon school, where she had taught since it was erected a number of years ago. The groom is a brother of Mrs. H. C. Murray, of South Woodward avenue.

For the past two weeks affairs for the bride-elect have been numerous. The week previous to Miss Mills' marriage found practically every afternoon and evening filled with attractive engagements. Among some of the most recent hostesses who entertained for her were Mrs. L. R. Mix, Mrs. W. B. Easterday, Miss Ella Adams, Mrs. H. C. Murray, Miss Lowensberg, Mrs. W. F. Walker and daughter, the Misses Foreman and a group of teachers at the Hill school, who gave a farewell party the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills will make their home in Plaucumb, where he has a large farm.

BALDWIN GIRLS VICTORIOUS

By all reports Flint had gained a reputation for herself in basketball this season, and intended to lay claim to the State title, but her fond hopes were blasted when Coach Wilson's girls walked the floor with a 53-8 victory.

This week the girls play Farmington in the Baldwin gym.

ATHLETIC SIDELIGHTS

Say—but the gang looked good against Ypsi. All kinds of dash and team work. No one starred particularly, but just worked together, which, after all, is the biggest element of success. Not many days before the tournament and we will display a shifty quintet.

Flint was no match for our girl basketeers. Incidentally their coach remarked after the game: "I have seen the best girl's teams in the State in action this year, and I feel confident that our Birmingham could defeat them all. Their team work is simply wonderful."

SLOW TILT GOES TO B. H. S.

The Ypsilanti normal high basketball team coming here last Friday night with an reputation as basketball players proved easy victims for the local basketball agregation, falling before the vicious and well organized attack of the locals with a count of 24 to 14 against them.

Tonight, Farmington, the winners of Class B tournament last year come here and a real battle is expected between the two teams.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

spreading this tax over several years, in which case it will scarcely be noticed.

If $23,500 for a new well and $10,000 for mains are all that is necessary for this year, is it useful to raise any more money than that amount?

The candidates for president, Mr. McBride and Mr. Taylor, seem to differ vastly in their notions of these items of expense.

Mr. Taylor does not favor the spending of $115,000 at this time. He believes that it is unnecessary and unwise because the Village cannot afford it.

Mr. McBride, so far as I know, has made no statement at all publicly, but is backed particularly by a committee, every man of whom, at the previous election in January, put forth his greatest effort to defeat the Village for $115,000 for putting down three or more wells and destroying the present plant.

We judge the future by the past and if Mr. McBride's principal backers are those opposed to extending water mains and yet in favor of a $115,000 bond issue for a sufficient amount of water which can be had for $23,500, we conclude Mr. McBride favors the position taken by his backers.

Mr. McBride was so active in support of $115,000 bond issue that he personally circulated petitions among the people to secure this bond issue. If Mr. McBride has changed his mind in the meantime, why did he not say so promptly?

What could be a greater misfit than to ask a $115,000 candidate to change his plans over to one-fifth of that amount?

If we entrust Mr. Taylor with the job of carrying forward the interests of the Village, the work will be done economically and promptly. I do not wish to refrain from Mr. McBride as a good man and all that, but it seems at this moment as if Mr. Taylor is the most appropriate choice for president of the Village.

Paul Morrow,
213 George St.

To the Editor:

When Mr. R. Eugene Griggs came to our village several years ago, I extended to him the right hand of fellowship and brotherly love, tried to make his sojourn in our midst pleasant and agreeable, gave him some plate glass insurance and hoped that he and I would be friends to the end of the journey of life.

But when Mr. Griggs read in your valuable paper that my salary had been raised $1,000 at once protested against such extravagance. I had been flattering myself that I had been donating the Village $50 per month during the past year. Why should I be asked to work for $100 per month when others not holding as responsible a position and receiving $1,200 per year do not?

In your next week's issue I request to explain to him, the Commissioner had committed no crime, the money and more had been saved the taxpayers.

I was surprised when I read in the following week's issue how peppery and sarcastic his remarks.

He charges me with making boastful assertions. I did not make any statement but what can be backed up by facts and figures. Why not put up a bond. The salary of Township Treasurer. She draws a salary of $4,000 or more per year; clerk $1,000 per year.

Mr. Griggs trusts all over raving about wealth and novse and all such junk that has no bearing on the subject whatever, he is unwise to impress upon the people what a wide progressive, economical, business administration he will give, if elected.

He reminds me of the story of Absolom. Absolom was told by his friend that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any suit or controversy might come to me, and I would do him justice.

And finally we read, King David was driven from his home and throne and after a while the battle was fought and we find that the would-be wise, progressive, conservative office seeker hanging in the thick boughs of a great oak tree.

And I fear after the 13th of March it may be my painful duty to plant a weeping willow tree near by and there lay my friend Griggs to lie until the morning shall dawn.

When Gabriel blows his horn.

John Hanna.

To the Editor:

Certain persons have circulated an erroneous report stating that those who vote for me as Township Treasurer will forfeit their vote because I am not a citizen. I wish to correct that error and state that I am a citizen and remain a candidate for the above office. I regret the origination and circulation of the above false report and shall give my best services to the citizens of this township, if elected.

Mrs. Eleanor G. Wilson.

GRACE GEORGE AT THE GARRICK, DETROIT

Supported by an excellent company specially engaged for the production of "The Exquisite Hour," Grace George will return to Detroit for a week's engagement at the Garrick Theatre next Monday evening, March 13th. On this occasion Miss George will present what is regarded as one of the most interesting plays of the year and which, by the way, is by an author new to playgoers, Margaret Wright, winner of the Prof. Baker medal, Harvard University, for the best play of the year. Miss Wright, it is said, has provided a play which precisely suits the gifted American commedienne. It tells entertainingly a tale of domestic life bordering on catastrophe which, it is said, brings home to many married couples vicissitudes which are encountered in this busy world.
