Caught the Plugged Nickel

The Thrifty Citizen Who PR. BROWN had swallowed his lunch and had paid his bill. Cautiously be counted his change. "Here!" he said, sharply, "Take back this plugged nickel and give me a good one!"

Mr. Brown walked proudly out. They couldn't fool old Brown.

But old Brown had fooled himself.

Brown's day was heavy and dull.
He lacked "pep." There was a mid-afternoon drowny spell when he needed to be awake—the direct and natural result of heavy startle when the direct and natural result of heavy startle when or faith and without question as to value—just because the food looked and tasted like food.

Thousands of shrewd business men who count their change, take their food for granted.

That's what builds up the sanitarium business, and puts the tired "all-done" feeling into the midafternoon of a business day.
