

CHIROPRACTIC

What it is that keeps your body running day after day!

By PETER D. ARISTOS

Have you ever wondered just what it is that keeps your body running day after day? Your body does over 100,000 times a day. What keeps it going? What makes the liver work, keeps the kidneys active, digest your food, builds new flesh, closes and heals wounds, and carries on a thousand and one activities of your body? It is nerve force from the brain. Your brain is the power house of your body and it is interference with the currents of nerve force to any organ which causes so-called disease.

Nerves are covered with a tough fibrous coating and the only pressure hard enough to interfere with their activity is that produced by bone pressure. The only place where bones can press on nerves is where they leave the backbone or spine. When the spine falls, jars, strains, etc., the little bones of the spine are often misplaced so as to press on a nerve and cause disease in the organ or part of the body supplied by that nerve.

It is the work of the Chiropractor to adjust these bones, thus releasing the pressure and restoring normal transmission of nerve force. CHIROPRACTIC is not magic, but it has produced wonderful results in many cases where hope had been given up.

Office will be opened soon in the Levinson Building, Birmingham

BALDWIN BEACON

The Baldwin Beacon proved one of the pleasant features of last year for readers of the Birmingham Eccentric. It proved "worthwhile" in all its phases and kept interested constantly in touch with activities of Baldwin High. It is certain that many copies of the paper were sold mainly for the procuring of the school notes.
