American Individualism

A Timely Message to the American People

By HERBERT HOOPER Secretary of Commerce.

4—ECONOMIC PHASES

WHAT high and increasing standards of living and comfort should be the first of considerations in public mind and in government needs to apology. We have long since realized that the basis of an advancing civilization must be a high and growing standard of living for all the people...

The superlative value of individualism through its impulse to production, its stimulation to invention, its incentive to progress, its liberality to individual initiative as far as I know, never been denied. Criticism of it has lain in its wastes but more importantly in its failures of equitable sharing of the product...

The domination by arbitrary individual ownership is disappearing because the ownership is being shared by growing more and more beyond the compass of any one individual and excessive individualism is being replaced by a more equitable distribution of wealth...

Large masses of capital can only find their market for service or production to great numbers of the same kind of people, and that industry and industry must, therefore, maintain a constant flow of their public responsibilities in times when the products of the factory were mostly luxuries to the average of the people...

Try a pipeful or two direct from the factory

Not that it will be any better than the Edgeworth you buy in a store...

You may repay us by finding that Edgeworth just suits your taste...

We are glad enough to send few samples in the same spirit that we'd hand you our pouch if circumstances permitted...

Edgeworth is a likable smoke. Men who have tried it and found it to be the right tobacco for them never think of smoking other tobaccos.

They'll tell you there are many good tobaccos—and there are. And when you offer them a pipeful of our "stranger" tobacco in it, they may use up a pipeful just as friendly.

But notice how quickly they get back to their beloved Edgeworth!

Day after day Edgeworth fans write to us. They tell us human life stories, friendly anecdotes centering around Edgeworth...

Knowing how hard it is for the average man to write letters, we consider these unsolicited messages the greatest tribute to Edgeworth...

Edgeworth's tobacco possibly have a greater value than their increasing sales.

It gives the business the direction and the vitality property in the sense that it gives the tobacco a plan through which the whole gamut of factory executive to the smoker in the backwoods.

If you have never tried Edgeworth, let us repeat our offer, "Try a pipeful or two direct from the factory..."

Let me try a pipeful or two direct from the factory. Your name and address and send the postcard to us. The address is Larus & Brother Co., 78 South 21st Street, Richmond, Va. If you want to add the name of your tobacco dealer, we'll make sure that he has Edgeworth in stock.

Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one-ounce tins can contain any size of Edgeworth Plug Slice or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

Insured. She (broadly)—Do you care for Edgeworth?—Yes—No—No? do you think I am a normality?

THUS ENDED THAT LITTLE AFFAIR

Attempted Flirtation Nipped in the Bud by Reconciling Young American! The train was scheduled to lay over at the division point fifteen minutes for a change of engine and crew. The young man descended from the platform and met a girl of fresh air...

Form with an important side effect. While doing this, discovered in the rear coach, a rather pretty young girl sitting by the window. He looked at her intently and said, "Excuse me, but he saw a response in her smiling face. He was sure this must have been the case, because, as he came by again, he saw she was having the porter raise the window. As the young man turned and came back down the platform again facing the girl, he raised his hat and greeted her in his best manner. The passengers sitting near by were beginning to look on with interest. The girl turned and looked at her hat. She said, "Hello. However, the young man didn't go to mind. He persisted in his smiles. "But the girl was smiling at him. The platform the young man was on was empty. She looked on the window, pocketbook in hand, and called to him. "Hello. He was so selling papers or sandwiches."
