Rare Brand of Pigeon. The Belgians are great pigeon breeders, and one of the choicest birds of this kind is the true pigeon carrier, which is comparatively rare.

Eco City News

Accident at Eight-Mile Road. At eleven o'clock Thursday night, the car belonging to Owen Wingate of Smith avenue, collided with a Ford sedan driven by W. Needles of Fernside on Woodward avenue, near the Eight Mile road. The body of Mr. Wingate's Ford was completely destroyed as it tumbled over the curb, right side up on the street tracks, just as a trolley rounded the curve. The trolley was stopped before it reached the car, although the occupants had already managed to get out. Mrs. Wingate was the only passenger in the Ford who was injured. She suffered severe bruises and lacerations on her head and limbs. The Hudson was just slightly damaged.

Hawaiian Musicians Serenade Eco. Saturday night, the stillness of Eco was broken by the haunting music of ukuleles, as six native Hawaiian serenaders, Mrs. Rowena Goldsmith at her little store in Eco. The musicians are a family, Mr. and Mrs. Henri Kilani and their five sons, who were brought to Michigan by Henry Ford after he had heard them play at the Panama-Exposition. The serenaders with their friends were enroute to Middle Branch Lake where they were to spend the week-end camping with Mrs. Goldsmith's daughter and her Mrs. Goldsmith's Mr. and Mrs. Brown Price of Eco, who were spending the summer there.

Pastor Asks Aid. Rev. D. H. Cury, pastor of the Eco City United Presbyterian church, incorporated, has issued a petition to the people of Eco, asking their aid in the building of the church on Bennaville avenue. He does not ask for pecuniary aid, but solicits the help of men with saws and hammers, and a desire to raise the church. The building has already been started, and a number of men have offered their assistance.

Lawn Party. Tomorrow night, at her home on Smith avenue, Miss Ester Wingate is giving a lawn party for twelve guests from Detroit, all of whom graduated with Miss Wingate from Greenfield Grammar school last year. Japanese lanterns will decorate and light the lawn, where the young people will dance and play games. Refreshments will be served on the veranda.

Valueless Unless Tested. That fertilizer which has encountered no dangers, that prudence which has surmounted no difficulties, that integrity which has been attacked by no temptation, can at best be considered but as gold not yet brought to the test, of which therefore the true value cannot be ascertained.—Johnson.

Theatres

At the Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak. James Whitcomb Riley's "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," coming to the Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak, Aug. 16 and 17, has a particular strong appeal for Elliott Dexter, who plays the leading male, because, he admits, he once tried to exact the part of the poem in real life.

"When I was a little shaver," Mr. Dexter related recently, "there was a little girl who struck my fancy. I liked her and wanted to tell her so, but I couldn't quite bring myself to do it. Then, one rainy night when I was brooding about the girl, I remembered an 'An Old Sweetheart of Mine.' I was captivated. And immediately had my first love memorized, and the next Friday afternoon when we had to 'speak pieces' at school, I mounted the platform with great confidence. I aimed my recitation right at little Mary, who played the girl, and I tried to appeal to her sympathy with a crowd of happy spectators. But I never knew."

"As we walked home I whispered: 'Remember that poem, Mary?' She parted the knowledge that she had some slight recollection of it, and then I breathed heavily: 'Well, you see, the girl in the poem and I'm the boy.' This began a furious youthful rompage that has broken when Mary moved away. It didn't end like Riley's beautiful poem. Mary is happily married now, and as I have seen her not long ago, and we both saw her a glorious laugh over our childhood romance.

Mr. Dexter gives the best characterization of his screen career in "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," which was produced for Metro by Harry Garrison. Helen Jerome Lloyd plays opposite him. The poem was adapted for the screen by Louis Duryea Lighter. The photography was done by L. William O'Connor, and the lighting effects were arranged by Harry Collins. Joseph Wright was art director. The film was edited by Violet Blair.

At the Garrick, Detroit. Miss Bonstelle will offer a new farce at the Garrick next week, play of rare humor and really possessing a new farcical idea. For the present it will be called "Caucus for the Gander," and though the author is English he prefers to have his identity remain hidden. "Caucus for the Gander" is being contemplated for production by the Messrs. Shubert and the Messrs. Schreyer, and each firm will send representatives on to Detroit the coming week.

Henrietta O'Hara is next type of woman. When a small girl she witnessed the tragedy of her sister being killed and vowed her revenge upon man, deciding to take "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." In this particular instance Henrietta has already taken five teeth and is preparing for the sixth which she declares will be her last and final punishment for the teeth are husbands, and the opening of the play we find four ex-husbands gathered at the bungalow of Lord Gilhooley in Scotland. The ex-husbands are still madly in love with Henrietta, particularly the last one, who is gloomy over his loss and being recently divorced; in fact, Henrietta has had a happy faculty of never summing her marriage vows with any of her husbands. The should be given a thorough punishment and angle Lord Gilhooley into a position where he agrees to woo her and then jilt her. Just after he agrees to the plan of the ex-husbands it is announced a lady is waiting to see him. She comes in and for the first time Lord Gilhooley is smitten, only later to find out that the woman is Henrietta. The farce develops into a battle of wits between Gilhooley and Henrietta, with the jealous husbands presenting a rich fund of humor and incident. Psychoanalysis plays an important part, and one scene is a typical "taming of the shrew" scene, with the fair and dominant Henrietta cracking the whip about her husband and scolding his four ex-husbands and Lord Gilhooley.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—The Circuit Court for the County of Oakland in Chancery. Edith M. Walser Plaintiff, vs. Edith M. Walser Defendant. Suit pending in the Circuit Court for Oakland County, in Chancery, on 23rd day of July, A. D. 1923, at said City of Oakland.

It is satisfactorily appearing by affidavit taken of the defendant, Edith M. Walser, that she is not a resident of the State of Michigan but resides at Chicago in the State of Illinois, on motion of Vincent D. Ryan, attorney for plaintiff, it is Ordered, that the said defendant, Edith M. Walser, cause her appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order, and in case of her appearance that she cause her answer to the plaintiff's bill of complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served upon the plaintiff by his attorney, within twenty days after service on her of a copy of said bill, and notice of this order, and that in default thereof that said bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident defendant.

And it is further ordered that within twenty days after the date hereof the said plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Birmingham Eccentric, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said County of Oakland, and that such publication be continued once in each week for six successive weeks or that he cause a copy of this order to be served personally on said non-resident defendant, at least ten days before the time above prescribed for her appearance. And it is Further Ordered that the said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant at her last known postoffice address, by registered mail, and a return receipt demanded at least twenty days before the time herein prescribed for the appearance of the defendant.

The Use of Vertical Lines. By remembering that vertical lines emphasize the height of a room, one is able to make the low-ceilinged room appear normal. Long side drapes of two-toned stripes, long side drapes of hung straight, pane mirrors and pictures and high-backed chairs are some of the things that help.
