Your Question AND ITS ANSWER

QUESTION—"I suffer with continual colds, first in my head, then in my throat and bronchials, and often the lungs are affected. If you can cure me, how long will it take?"

ANSWER—"You certainly owe it to yourself to have your spine aligned so susceptibility to colds can no longer exist. The time required to bring about the cure, depends on the severity, character or location when the organs of elimination are not functioning properly. Your susceptibility to colds will cease to exist when these four great channels of waste elimination are doing their work as Nature intended. From an examination of your spine we will be able to give you more definite advice as to time required."
